ELECTION BOARD NOT SURE ABOUT MAYOR'S TERM OF OFFICE

Commission Will Not Decide as to Whether Plan B Gives Mayor One-Year or Two-Year Term Until Question Has Been Passed Upon By Some Competent State Official

The election commission will not make a decision on whether a mayor is to be elected under Plan B for a one-year or two-year term until the matter has been passed on by some state official competent to correctly interpret the phraseology of the charter act and its amendments. At present the commission inclines to the belief that a mayor's term under Plan B shall be two years, but admits the question is open to argument and inasmuch as it has been raised, will settle it by appeal to the state.

Of great importance is that section of Plan B that provides for the removal of any department head or member of a municipal board of commission by the mayor, provided this removal has the approval of a majority of all members of the city council. This section goes on to say the removed official, after being furnished with the reasons for his removal, may contest it before the city council.

There the section ends, without saying anything concerning a possible re-

Defender Jumps Into Lead In Third Official Race For the International Trophy

LOWELL, Oct. 26. (By Associated Press.)—The Gloucester schooner Henry Ford and the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose were sent away at 11 o'clock today on the start of their third official race for the International trophy with the Bluenose leading by 15 seconds and going fast.

The official starting times were: Bluenose 11:01:06; Ford 11:01:21.

Capt. Walters won all the honors at the start. Ten minutes before he reached the Bluenose to weather of the Ford and both boats came down from the West Gloucester shore before the wind. Five minutes before the start, the Ford, instead of giving over and heading for the start, tacked ship and lost nearly two minutes while in stay-valls.

The Bluenose headed for the line with the Ford 200 yards astern. The Bluenose in such a line herch was in no hurry to cross, but when the start signal was fired, she picked up her skirts smartly and dashed over the line with a great burst of speed. The Ford was slow in reaching the line and followed 27 seconds later.

At 11:15 the Bluenose, hard on the port tack, luffed for the mark with a commanding lead of 200 yards which seemed to increase at every mile. Both boats had their staysails pulling hard and made fast time as they dashed along the Cape shore to the first mark.

The Ford caught the Bluenose at the second mark, but could not get between the Bluenose and the buoy. The Ford's crew was slow in shifting the staysail and the Bluenose gained 29 yards on this account.

The Ford's foremast broke off half way up and the jib topkail fluttered into the water alongside. The Bluenose was nearly a half mile ahead at the time, and seemed to have the race well in hand. The disablement of the Ford apparently settled the race.

ASK U. S. TO PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE AT LAUSANNE

France, Italy and Great Britain Agree to Send Invitation to U. S.—Decision Reached After Week's Discussion—Suggestion to Invite U. S. Came From Lord Curzon

PARIS, Oct. 26 (by the Associated Press.)—France, Italy and Great Britain have agreed to invite the United States to participate officially in the Near East conference at Lausanne, Switzerland, Nov. 12.

This decision was reached after a week's discussion of the form of the invitation to be issued to the conference. The suggestion to ask the United States to participate officially came from Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs. The invitation will be handed to the state department in Washington probably tomorrow by the French, British and Italian embassies.

Eleven invitations will be issued in all—to the United States, Turkey, Greece, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Yugoslavia and Rumania—for the peace conference, and to the Soviet Russian and Bulgarian governments to take part in the discussion of the question of the Balcans.

The invitations will be presented at the different capitals by the diplomatic representatives of all the three inviting powers, France, Great Britain and Italy, probably tomorrow, except in the case of the Soviet government, which will be informed by wireless.

STREET DEPARTMENT MORE THAN LIVES UP TO PAVING PROGRAM

In Addition to Schedule by City Engineer, Department Has Done Extra Work Unprecedented in Local History—Block Paving Program for 1923

Not only has the street department lived up to its 1922 paving program, but it has exceeded it in an extent almost unprecedented in local history. In March of this year, City Engineer Stephen Kearney submitted a four-year paving program to the board of public service that was adopted and when work began last spring it was based entirely on the 1922 schedule of work.

This schedule called for the paving

of Moody street, from Spaulding to Pawtucket; Chelmsford street, from Westford to Grand (both of which were left over from 1921); Lawrence street, Concord river bridge approaches; Central bridge approaches; Chelmsford street, from Grand to and including Lincoln square; Allen street, from Moody to Ford; First street, from Bridge to Reed and Lake—

"HONEY FITZ" IN LOWELL ON CAMPAIGN TOUR

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, democratic candidate for governor, struck Lowell this noon on his whirlwind tour of the state, which before it concludes next week will have taken him almost the entire length and breadth of the commonwealth she seeks to serve as chief executive.

Mr. Fitzgerald spoke twice in the city, first at the old familiar campaigning ground at Bridge and Faigle streets, at 12:30 o'clock, and later from the steps of city hall. His program called for three mill gate gatherings, but a blustery day and a desire to conserve his voice and energy as much as possible

UNUSUAL DISPOSITION IN LIQUOR CASE

A most unusual liquor case was brought before Judge Enright in district court this morning when John Koelski of Chelmsford faced charges of illegal keeping and maintaining a liquor nuisance. He was fined $200 and sentenced to the house of correction for five months for keeping and fined $100 for the nuisance. He was before the court before and fined $100 for illegal keeping. Following a conference between the court, counsel and Chelmsford officers the sentence imposed for illegal keeping was suspended for two years. Judge Enright, in making the unusual disposition, said that he was doing it only on account of the defendant's large family and owing to the fact that the officers agreed to it.

Judge DeCourcy so Rules in Decision on Lowell Mandamus Case

Other Opinion Says Charter Petition Correctly Certified and Filed

In his decision on the Lowell mandamus case, brought by Mayor George H. Brown, in which the latter sought to keep the Plan B charter question off the state ballot, Judge DeCourcy ruled the petition was properly certified and properly filed, and in allowing the writ of the election commission, which sought legal recognition, the justice rules that not only the first, but also the three subsequent removals of the board by the mayor were actuated by bad faith.

While no copies of the two texts have been received by counsel involved, Attorney Albert S. Howard took occasion to glance over both opinions while in Boston yesterday.

This feature of each decision is its extreme brevity. Mr. Howard said today, and added that the court in denying the mayor's writ and granting the petition of the election commission had ruled in line with every argument put forward by counsel for the commission.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Lowell Teachers Will Attend Meeting of County Educators in Boston Tomorrow

The 68th annual meeting of the Middlesex County Teachers' association will be held in Tremont Temple and Carver hall, state house, Boston, all day tomorrow. Consequently all public schools of the city will be closed. The meetings of the association will be held in departmental sections with an elementary section, a high school section, junior high school section and continuation school section. This will give four distinct meetings at the same time and insures ample accommodations for all who wish to attend. The general business of the association will be conducted tomorrow morning and afternoon in the elementary school section.

The general subject of the convention is "The Development of Efficient Personality Through Education." The officers will present one of the strongest professional programs ever presented in this state to a county convention. All

REAL ESTATE MEN PLAN CAMPAIGN

Licensing of Brokers and Salesmen to Be Discussed at Meeting

State Legislature Will Be Asked to Enact Rigid Laws Next Session

Movement to License Real Estate Brokers and Salesmen is Western Born

Leading Lowell real estate operators are to hold an important business meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 1, the next regular meeting day for local brokers, handlers and salesmen of real estate in this vicinity.

At the noon meeting at Page's following luncheon and discussion of current business data and progress, plans for strengthening the local lines for an organized campaign to have the state legislature enact rigid laws at its next session requiring all brokers and salesmen handling real estate transactions to be licensed, will be formulated. The movement already has strong backing in many local real estate firms.

Licenses for real estate brokers and salesmen is a burning question that is being discussed in local and all other Bay State realty circles this fall. It is

IDENTIFIES MAN WHO SHOT HALL

Mrs. Gibson, Eye-Witness to Murder of Rector and Mrs. Mills, Talks

Says She Identified Man Who Fired Shots and Woman Companion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman farmer, who claims to have witnessed the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor N. Mills, today told a newspaperman that she had identified the man who she says shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman who she asserts was with the murderer.

Gibson, who it was learned yesterday had told the authorities the name of the murderer's companion, said today that she had once met her at a rummage sale, and instantly had recognized her at the scene of the murder on Phillips farm. She added that she had seen her since the double killing and was sure of her recognition.

Judge Mott, the new special state prosecutor, came to New Brunswick today and summoned every principal in the case to the court house so that he might personally hear their stories.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IRENE'S APPEARANCE TONIGHT

Albert Edmund Brown, under whose management Irene Castle is to appear at the Memorial Auditorium this evening, today received a telegram from the noted artist, stating that she would arrive in Nashua from Springfield early this afternoon, and that she would positively appear in person at the Auditorium tonight. Mr. Brown emphatically contradicts the prevalent rumor that Miss Castle will not appear here in person, and to substantiate his claim, he motored to Nashua this noon to meet the star.

It is expected that she will reach Lowell about 3:30 this afternoon, stopping at the American House in Central street.

ADMIRAL BEATTY PAINFULLY INJURED
LONDON, Oct. 26.—Admiral Lord Beatty was in a painful condition today, following a motor car accident last Saturday, when it was considered that his injuries were very slight. The admiral was returning from a shoot near Doorking when in an attempt to avoid a bicycle his motor car ran into a ditch. He was severely shaken, though it is understood no bones were broken. He is still confined to his bed.

LOWELL MAN GETS YEAR IN HOUSE OF CORRECTION FOR BRUTALLY ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

Found guilty of a most brutal assault upon his wife, Robert O'Grady was this morning sentenced to serve one year in the house of correction by Judge Enright. When O'Grady was arraigned in district court he pleaded guilty to drunkenness. His wife was brought forward her head swathed in bandages, her face puffed and both eyes nearly closed, the result of the assault.

The court asked her if she wished to make any complaint against her husband. She said she did not care to do so. The court, however, said that it wasn't possible for him to overlook such an assault and ordered an assault and battery complaint issued. This was obtained in a few minutes. O'Grady pleaded not guilty to the assault but was found guilty. Previous to the finding, the court called Mrs. O'Grady forward and told her of her constitutional rights which permitted her to refuse to testify against her husband. She did not care to testify.

Patrolman Patrick Sullivan testified that he was called to the O'Grady house yesterday afternoon and found Mrs. O'Grady on the floor, where she claimed

CARDINAL CONFIRMS FINED $50 FOR BITING NOSE

Sacrament of Confirmation Administered at St. Peter's by Cardinal O'Connell

Over 100 girls and boys of St. Peter's parish, one of the largest churches of recent years, received the sacrament of confirmation, administered by His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, in St. Peter's church this morning. The cardinal motored from Boston to Lowell, arriving here shortly before 11 o'clock, and immediately proceeded for the ceremony. At 11 o'clock mass was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., with many parents, relatives and friends of the young children in attendance. The candidates for reception occupied seats in the main aisle of the church, the girls attractively attired in white dresses with veils to match, and the boys in dark blue suits. The sponsors were Mr. James Corbett for the boys and Miss Elizabeth O'Connor for the girls.

At the conclusion of the mass, the cardinal, assisted by Rev. Francis L. Shea and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan of St. Peter's church, administered the sacrament. Rev. Peter T. Linehan acted as master of ceremonies, while Rev. John M. Marlon had charge of the candidates. Cardinal O'Connell remained at St. Peter's rectory a short while this afternoon as the guest of the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D.

MANIFESTO BY BONAR LAW

Says Party if Returned to Power to Make Good Anglo-Irish Treaty

Will Give Whole-Hearted Support to League and Fulfill Obligations Abroad

LONDON, Oct. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—Andrew Bonar Law, as leader of the unionist party, in a manifesto issued this afternoon, declared one of the tasks of that party, if it is returned to power, will be to make good the Anglo-Irish treaty both in letter and spirit and to co-operate with the Irish government.

The manifesto declares it will be the government's earnest aim, if returned, to give whole-hearted and practical support to the League of Nations, to fulfill the obligations Great Britain has undertaken abroad but not to extend her commitments, but preferably to curtail them, and to maintain friendship and good understanding with the United States.

Mr. Bonar Law in the manifesto said it was the unionist party's purpose, if the self-governing dominions approved, to summon an economic conference in an effort to discover how the vast trade which the resources of the empire made possible could best be developed by mutual co-operation.

FUNERALS

ROBINSON—The funeral of Alfred Robinson, a former prominent marketman of this city, who died recently at his home in Milford, N. H., took place yesterday morning at his home, 18 Amherst street, services being conducted by Rev. G. Homer Lane. At the close of the service the body was brought to the city and in the afternoon services were conducted at the home of a daughter of deceased, Mrs. Roy P. Perkins, 276 Pine street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Mr. Lane and Rev. Richard M. Peters, the latter pastor of the Highland Congregational church of this city. The bearers were Clarence Langdell, Alan Gray, Charles Wing and Leon Maynes. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Lane and Rev. Mr. Peters.

BLANCHETTE—The funeral of Mrs. Achille Blanchette, nee Leopoldine Granger, took place this morning from her home, 501 Merrimack street, and was largely attended. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. John Baptist church at 8 o'clock by Very Rev. J. J. Turley, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Rodolphe E. Poulin, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mrs. Maria Jacques, Mrs. Marie Jovary, Miss Anna Marie and Wilfrid Jacques. The bearers were Auguste, Omer, Norbert, Alfred, Philippe and Ludovick Blanchette. There were many floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Very Rev. Fr. Turley, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

FOSTER—The funeral of Joseph V. Foster took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, Princeton street, North Chelmsford. The cortege proceeded to St. John's church where a funeral high mass was sung by Rev. Emil Dupont. The choir, under the direction of Miss Anna Curry sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary Purdy, Miss Curry presiding at the organ. The bearers were John and James E. Foshee, Raymond Menner and Joseph Lee. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Lawrence, Mass., under the direction of Undertakers James P. O'Donnell & Sons.

view, avenue, from Bridge to Coburn. All either have been completed or will be within a fortnight.

In addition the department has paved, Andover street hill, from Fayette to High streets; the Memorial Auditorium driveway and Moore street, from Gorham to Bleachery streets.

A splendid roadway of reinforced cement concrete has been built in Manchester street and on one side of Westford street from Windsor street to the end of the car line. The other side will be so paved as far as Foster at this year and completed next summer.

The 1923 block paving program is interesting at this time, as in a sense it will be a continuance of the progress made this year. It follows:

Backview avenue, from Coburn to West street; Chelmsford street, from Lincoln Square to Plain street; Moady street, from Dutton to Tilden; Branch street at Coral street; Mammoth road, from Pawtucket Square to Fourth avenue, and Fletcher street, from Liberty square to Broadway.

At a later date a complete program of the work accomplished this year will be released from the office of the city engineer. In addition to block paving it will include, patching, grading, edging, sheet asphalt and asphalt concrete.

burg, N. S., each with one accredited race in the international sailing vessel championship competition had a light wind from the westward for their decisive contest today.

The crew of the Huenese and her skipper, Angus Walters, flushed with their success yesterday in the smashing 40 mile scrap with the Henry Ford, were in high spirits, although waiting for more wind which would bring out what they said were the best qualities of their boat. Captain Clayton Morrissey brought the men of the Henry Ford together on the deck before they started to hoist sail and said they were going out to do the best that was in them and hopeful that their best would be good enough to win.

The Gloucester skipper, taking nothing away from the Huenese's victory yesterday, nevertheless said that he wished he had a whole mainsheet to work with instead of the mangled one, cut down by official interpretations of rules with which the Gloucester man's skipper and designer differed. The Lunenburgers were early astir today with intention of hauling their schooner out on the marine railway for examination. But it was found that the tide would not entirely serve to bring her back into the water in time to start the race and a sweep of the keel with chains indicated that nothing was amiss. Since stranding three days ago Captain Walters has feared that the vessel's shoe was strained.

The Canadian contingent regarded as a favorable omen the assignment as official boat again today of their destroyer Patriot. It was Lieut. Commander Jones, her captain, who sounded the gun that marked the Huenese's victory. In the two previous races the first of which had no gun at the finish because the Henry Ford's victory was not officially recognized, the American destroyer Paulding was the official boat.

The race today was scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. The possibility of a windward and leeward course being ordered instead of a triangular one as in the three previous races, was considered.

Canadian adherents today questioned whether Captain Morrissey's schooner had the right of way at the start yesterday when, had he not hauled up, it appeared that collision between the schooner was inevitable. Captain John J. Matheson, mate of the Henry Ford, declared there was no question of it that all the elements of the right of way were with the Gloucesterman and that only Captain Morrissey's wish not to sacrifice ships and men, saved the racers and possibly their lives.

Urge Purchase of Canal— Favor Ship Subsidy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—President Harding was told that New England is a unit in support of the Ship Subsidy bill for the encouragement of the American Merchant Marine, when E. S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Association of the United States, called on the president yesterday.

The New England situation was discussed generally at the conference, and it is understood that the president expressed sympathetic interest in the problems of that section of the country.

He was urged to give his backing to the purchase by the government of the Cape Cod Ship Canal, along with the Ship Subsidy measure.

That the president is in earnest in regard to the passage of the Ship Subsidy bill was made clear to Mr. Davis and Judge Clark. It is understood he will continue to give the measure his backing, and that congress will be called in special session about Nov. 20 to begin consideration of the bill.

CONDUCTED SALE AND ENTERTAINMENT

A successful sale and entertainment was conducted yesterday afternoon and evening at the parish rooms of the Central M.E. church of this city under the auspices of the women of Christ mission of Kenwood, Braintree. The sale was started in the afternoon and continued until late in the evening, and those in charge report a brisk business.

In the evening the following program was given: Songs, Miss Beale; piano solos, Mrs. Earle L. Huse; readings and character songs, Fred Thompson; selections by an orchestra composed of Mrs. Huse, pianist, Elmer McIntosh and Earle Huse, banjos, and W. Vernon Huse, violinist.

Rev. Leslie C. Backus of the Central M.E. church and Rev. Appleton Grant of St. Anne's church were present and spoke a few words in appreciation of the work of the mission. Rev. John J. Callan, curate of St. Anne's, was also a guest of the evening.

The general committee in charge consisted as follows: Mrs. W. D. Stewart, Mrs. Arthur LePore, Mrs. William Haywood, Mrs. M. B. Reed, Mrs. Thomas Curry, Mrs. G. S. Converse and Mrs. Lavina Hamer.

DRY AND WET DEBATE INDIGESTION DUE TO WEAK NERVES

HELD AT WORCESTER

Worcester, Oct. 26.—A joint debate was held last night in the Worcester hall on the referendum on the State Volstead law between F. G. H. Gordon, of Haverhill, representing the Constitutional Liberty League, in opposition to the act, and Boyd A. Doty of Boston, New England counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, in favor of the referendum. The hall was filled to its capacity of 700 and several hundred more persons were unable to get within hearing of the speakers.

Mayor Peter F. Sullivan presided. Mr. Gordon opened and closed the debate. In opposition to the State Volstead law, Mr. Gordon contended that it is a violation of personal, constitutional liberty to pass such a law. He claimed that bootlegging and other illegal selling is rampant, the consumption of liquor is not diminished and the state is losing much revenue which it formerly had from the taxes collected from the licensed liquor business.

Mr. Doty declared that the supreme court of the United States two years ago established the constitutional and legal right of the government to regulate or prohibit the sale of liquor. He said violations of all laws are constantly committed, yet, with the exception of liquor laws, no clamor is heard that, because of the violations, the laws should be repealed. The illegal sales by bootleggers and others is strong argument, he declared, in favor of a law which will stop it.

Mr. Doty quoted figures to show that gains in bank deposits since prohibition refute the argument that prohibition entails financial loss to the commonwealth and its people.

ENTERTAINMENT BY GIRLS' SOCIETIES

A supper and entertainment was held last night in the First Baptist church by three of the girls' societies. Each of the clubs, the Live Wires, the Delta Alpha and the Whitecaps, had its table at the supper which was held at 6:30 under the direction of Mrs. Hattie Page, who was assisted by Mrs. Amaden, Gertrude Brown, Dorothy Adams and Myrtle Walker. During the supper Mrs. Emily Beale entertained with piano selections which were greatly appreciated. An entertainment followed in which all three clubs furnished entertainers.

NEW ENGLAND BROWN BREAD

By Bertha E. Shapleigh, of Columbia University.
2 cups Graham flour
1 cup corn meal
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 cup molasses
2 cups of sour milk
Sift together flour, meal, salt and soda. Add molasses and sour milk and when thoroughly mixed steam three to five hours. Rye flour may be substituted for one cup of the Graham flour.

Water (lukewarm) may be used in place of sour milk. If this is done use one and one-half teaspoons soda in place of two as above.

If a very dark brown bread is desired steam eight or 10 hours. This will make three loaves if steamed in one-pound baking powder tins.

If raisins are desired add one cup to the recipe given and use a little less molasses.

NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED

The regular meeting of Lowell Lodge, 618, L.O.O.F.M., was held last evening in the Fellowship building, Middlesex street, with Dictator Edward S. Leper in the chair. Eight new members were admitted into the lodge and several applications for membership were received. It was announced that a big class initiation will be held on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 26, and that a joint entertainment under the auspices of the lodges of the Merrimack valley will be held at Lawrence Friday evening, Nov. 10.

CHURCH SUPPER

Mrs. V. E. Osborn was in charge of the supper held last night in the Emmanuel Baptist church in Blossom street. The following young women had charge of the tables: Ruth MacLean, Annie McQueen, Edith Kenney, Violet MacLean, Rose Pauly, Anna Southwick, Grace Osborn and Annette MacLean.

"WRONG IMPRESSION"

Given Important Historical Facts by F. D. Lane, Says Ex-Sec. Daniels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Declaring a "wholly wrong impression" of important historical facts had been given in one of the recently published letters of Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior under President Wilson, Josephus Daniels, who sat in the Wilson cabinet as secretary of the navy, telegraphed the Associated Press last night a story of the events which he said led up to the adoption of the convoy system of protecting American ships early in 1917.

Mr. Daniels' message, made particularly reference to a statement in one of the late letters saying that as a cabinet meeting on Feb. 26, 1917, "Daniels said we must not convoy—that it would be dangerous." The letter also attributed to President Wilson a suggestion that "this country was not willing that we should take any risks of war."

"Unfortunately, I kept a diary in those days," said Mr. Daniels' telegram. "Here is exactly what happened at that cabinet meeting in February, before we had entered the war: President Wilson turned to me and asked, 'Daniels, why have the British not convoyed their ships?'"

"In reply I informed him that the policy of the British admiralty was against the convoy, that the merchant captains regarded it more dangerous in U-boat zones to sail in company under convoy than for each

REPUBLICAN ROW IN CONNECTICUT

HARTFORD, Oct. 26.—Republican ranks in this state are stirred over the alleged failure of the party leaders to invite Gov. Everett J. Lako to a seat on the platform at the rally in Foot Guard hall, Tuesday evening, at which Vice-President Coolidge spoke.

It is said that no recognition was accorded the governor, although a large number of party leaders were invited to seats on the platform, and that Mr. Lako was forced to attend as a private citizen and sit in the gallery.

No plans were made for a meeting between Gov. Lako and the vice-president. When Mr. Coolidge arrived in Hartford he immediately expressed a desire to pay his respects to the governor, and a telephone message was sent to the state capital, but the governor had left for the day. Mr. Coolidge at once arranged to be taken to Gov. Lako's home, but on his arrival there, found him out. It happened that the governor was at the Hotel Bond, expecting to find Mr. Coolidge there. Finally the chase was given up, but the two men met at Port Guard hall later.

It is said that the governor has not been invited to address a single rally in the state.

Gov. Lako was asked yesterday: "Do you not consider it an affront to the office of the governor not to be invited to a seat on the platform, when the vice-president of the United States is addressing a meeting in the capitol, your own home city?"

"Personally, I have taken no offense," was his only reply.

WINSOL A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

You Wouldn't Knowingly Take Poison

Yet headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion and insomnia are usually only Nature's warning that you're constantly absorbing into your system poisons that should be eliminated by liver, kidneys, and bowels.

In SANALT the Sensible Tonic, you have a simple, harmless way of ridding yourself of these poisons, cleansing, and purifying your blood, stimulating secretory and excretory organs to normal action and regaining your "pep" and the joy and bloom of health.

In the more than 100 years that have passed since an old New England doctor originated the formula for this simple rebuilding tonic, SANALT has helped thousands of people just as it has helped Mrs. Carl Adams, of 456 Main St., Gardner, Mass. Here is her letter:

"I had been suffering terribly from nervousness for more than eight months. It was caused by bad condition of my stomach, which came so gradually that almost before I realized it I was suffering from intense headaches and spells of dizziness that were simply terrible. My kidneys and liver were both badly affected and I suffered intensely from backache. I have not yet finished my first bottle of Sanalt, but it has wonderfully improved my condition. The nervousness has almost gone, my stomach has been greatly helped, kidneys and liver are acting much better, and already I am convinced that Sanalt is true to name as 'Sanalt the Sensible Tonic.' I purchased Sanalt through the recommendation of Druggist Leathe, of Gardner, who said that if I was not satisfied with results he would return my money."

SANALT is safe for anyone to take. Contains no opiates, narcotics, or other harmful drugs. Like all the other famous Winsol remedies it can be bought at any drug store, for Winsol preparations are one line of trade-marked proprietary medicines sold by both Winsol Agents and non-agent druggists. No need to accept substitutes. If your druggist doesn't carry SANALT he can get it for you through his jobber.

NEUROPATHIC DROPS, the great emergency medicine, and CERIZANE BALSAM, for coughs, are two Winsol remedies that should be kept in every home. Ask your druggist about them.

B. O. & G. C. WILSON, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

B. O. & G. C. Wilson, Inc., established in 1845, is conducted on a unique profit-sharing plan which benefits everybody concerned—the Winsol Agent, all non-agent druggists, every Winsol employee and the general public. The Winsol Plan—the last word in co-operation—is responsible for the rapid growth of the Winsol business to a position as one of the largest and most successful drug specialty houses in the country today.

The Irish Regiment Band

Lieut. J. Andrew Wiggins, director of music of the Irish Regiment band, which includes a concert in this city at the Memorial Auditorium Oct. 30, afternoon and evening. In its itinerary, has created in this famous military-musical organization not only an institution for Irish music, but an organization which is liberally backed with military honors won by its members during the recent World war. Lieut. Wiggins, since the war, has devoted his best efforts to making the Irish Regiment band the leading Celtic music organization of the world, and already its fame is international.

Lieut. Wiggins' attitude towards his art and its direction is that of the distinguished, intelligent musician, who desires to attract attention personally as a conductor, preferring to get his effects from the players by graceful and characteristic gestures of hand, arm or baton, rather than by spectacular posing which takes away the picture he desires the music alone to make. His conception of his part as a musical interpreter gives peculiar freshness and depth to the work of his band. As a conductor he has few imitators, his leading is singularly firm and sympathetic, and is followed with unfailing precision and quickness of response by his players. The men of his band know the story of the works they are playing, and are taught to use their imagination, so that the whole ensemble is bound to be intelligently artistic, and not the splashing of color found in the ultra-impressionist school. Lieut. Wiggins has also great regard for symmetry in his programs, and is very careful that they contain certain numbers that will prove popular not alone to experts, but also to the mass of the public.

Radiographs

TEACHING, PREACHING, BANKING BY RADIO

Universities, churches, banks and public utilities are some of the organizations that have obtained licenses to broadcast their programs to radio listeners.

Out of nearly 350 broadcasting stations in the United States and Canada a survey shows more than half are being conducted by radio manufacturers, dealers or others interested financially in wireless. There are 49 private individuals who have obtained broadcasting licenses, and most of these may also be included among those having some financial interest in the science.

In other fields newspapers excel in the use of radio for broadcasting. At last reports there were 44 newspaper broadcasting stations in the United States and 11 in Canada.

Universities
Six cities have their own broadcasting apparatus. Twenty-one universities have already entered this field and more have applied for licenses. In the same category are three churches and one Bible institute, three banks and eight music, jewelry and watch firms.

Interest, however, lies in the unique. A physician in Louisville, Ky., is conducting a broadcasting station. Among others, throughout the country, are also an amusement company, a yacht club, an automobile club, a plumbing and heating concern, a farm machine company and a milling firm.

Public Radio
The Seattle public market is conducting a similar station in conjunction with the city's department stores. The United States army has three public broadcasting stations. They are at McCook Field, Dayton, O., at Fairfield, O., and New York City.

To help housewives buy wisely and economically, the Missouri State Marketing Bureau has opened a broadcasting service out of Jefferson City. Entertainment also is provided from this station.

In Canada the Canadian National Railways has erected a station for the dissemination of news and entertainment to radio fans. It is located at Toronto. Another source of such service, outside of the purely business sources, is that of the Allul Power and Paper Co., at Trois-Rivières.

IT'S PRACTICAL, THOUGH TINY
Heretofore "smaller" radio sets have been made merely for the fun of it. But here's one that's being distributed for sale throughout the country. Robert Scott, 8-year-old radio fan, is shown holding his 50-watt transmitting set for comparison, exhibiting the set at the New York radio fair.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs
Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and costs about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. The recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that no other business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Where is the best flour used?

The answer to above question will appear in this space tomorrow.

Yesterday's Question: What gives it that rich flavor?

The Answer: There is no single reason for Bond Bread's deliciousness. It is largely due to the ingredients—best flour, purest lard, fresh yeast, granulated sugar, sweet milk and table salt, as listed and guaranteed by our Bond printed on each wrapper.

WILL DEBATE THE PROHIBITION QUESTION

The final debate in the series between speakers chosen by the Anti-Saloon league and the Constitutional Liberty league on prohibition referendum question No. 4 will be held in Liberty hall, this city, on Monday evening, the night before election when Boyd P. Doty of Boston, counsel for the world league against alcoholism, will speak in behalf of the enforcement act, and then, Hollis D. Sawyer of Waco will speak for the "wet" side. While personalities are supposed to be banned in the debate, which is on the adoption of the state act to enforce the 18th amendment to the constitution, the two debaters have taken such widely opposing attitudes toward the law that there will be a real contest and no mimic battle. Admission is free to the public.

MEETING OF YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION

There was a large attendance at last evening's regular meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew association, which was held at the Hebrew school. Plans for a dance in the near future were discussed, and the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the event: M. Brown, N. Cohen and H. Friedman. Under the sports program, Abe Ratcliff was elected captain of the basketball team, and George Bloom was elected manager. An athletic committee, composed of G. Bloom, B. Kaplan and H. Friedman, was the concluding item of business on the evening's program.

Sonora

The Peerless

Queen Anne

The Queen Anne Sonora is a master-work. Like the great creative artists of the world, Sonora experts have concentrated on the soul of the phonograph. That soul is its tone, endlessly developed and perfected in the Sonora by subtle refinements through which the dead record is transformed into warm, life-like, pulsating sound.

By means of scientific experiments in the free use of wood—Nature's truest resonator—Sonora artisans have eliminated the shrill, harsh, nasal sounds long associated with most phonographs. The all-wood, laminated horn, made of from five to fifteen thick, cross-banded veneers, makes the Sonora rendition often more flawless than the original.

PRIMA DONNA DENIES HUSBAND'S CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Superior court records here today revealed the first legal skirmish in the divorce action instituted by Floyd Glatzback, chauffeur, against his wife, Madame Margaret Matzenauer, prima donna. Madame Matzenauer, who is appearing here in concert, filed a deposition denying her husband's charges of indelicacies. The divorce was filed in the Lottie Frates of Carmel, Cal., in whom Glatzback was said to have manifested too great interest.

To substantiate her charges, attorneys produced a letter which had been intercepted by Madame Matzenauer, in which the Carmel woman upbraided Glatzback for making her suffer and threatened to reveal an intimate relationship. The letter ended with the statement: "Never mind, she will know your life history."

The deposition was heard in chambers yesterday. The divorce trial has been set for Nov. 14. Glatzback was not at the hearing, although he was seen in the court house corridor.

The five states of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana possess more than one-half of all the standing timber in the United States.

MUSICAL COMEDY BY GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The members of the Girls' City club are again busily engaged in arranging for the musical comedy, "Kathleen," which, from present indications, promises to surpass the great success, "Springtime," presented to large audiences at the Opera House last year. The demand for a play, similar in character and of equally high merits as that of last season, has been so insistent that club officials have undertaken the tremendous task of securing 250 men, women and girls for a new play. The cast will be selected from among the best singers and dancers in the city. Many of the trained aesthetic dancers of the high school have expressed a desire to take part and afternoon sessions are being arranged for them by Miss Alice Sullivan, secretary of the club. These and all others who are interested in taking part should meet Miss Sullivan in the club rooms, Howe building, before tonight.

"Kathleen" represents a romance in a Massachusetts town and will be produced by the Rogers Producing company. The Opera House has again been secured for the presentation and Nov. 17 and 18 will be the dates. Tickets will go on sale in the near future.

JUNIOR CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

Members of the Junior Christian Endeavor society of the Lawrence Street P. M. church scored heavily last evening in presenting a three-act play, "Grown Up Folks." The cast was well selected and a large audience enjoyed the production. Excellent readings were contributed by Miss Genevieve Young, baritone solos by Herbert Ashton and piano solos by Miss Irene Gillet. The junior orchestra played.

The cast of characters in the play included Dorothy Mallory, Gladys Morris, Edith Garfield, Marjorie Nevel, Gladys Fletcher, Everett Fryer, Royall Phil, George Downey, Herbert Barber and Helen Bjorkman.

The musicians in the orchestra whose work was highly appreciated were Sheldon Budd, Miss Katherine Gracoe, Miss Irene Gillet and Miss Doris Wilde.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

It is expected that the general meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni, which will be held this evening in the assembly hall of the school in Merrimack street, will be largely attended, for one of the members of the organization, Mr. Leo G. Morin, a prominent mail carrier, will deliver a lecture on his voyage to Europe and Asia last summer. In addition to the lecture there will be entertainment numbers and business of importance will be brought to the attention of the meeting. President Joseph P. Montminy will occupy the chair.

BRIEF MENTION ON ACTION BY DAIL

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The political event of the day which received the least attention in the English press, was the adoption yesterday by the Daily Express of the new Irish constitution. This was dismissed by London newspapers with obscure and brief passages.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids.

Try These Recipes:

Cranberry Sauce De Luxe
(Jellied Cranberries)

Pinch or crush each berry of 1 1/2 pounds ripe Cranberries with the fingers so that they "pop" or open up. If too hard or green to open in this manner, slit part way with knife. Use ripest red berries to get finest flavor. Measure 6 level cups (1 1/2 lbs.) sugar in 2 cups of water. Then add the broken berries. Bring slowly to a boil and then boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in one level (scant) cup of Certo (have it poured out in cup ready to use). Skim and at once pour into molds or glasses.

Grape Jelly

Measure 7/8 level cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar and 1 cup (2 lbs.) juice into large saucepan, stir and bring to a boil. At once add one bottle (scant cup) Certo stirring constantly. Continue to stir and bring again to a hard boil for one minute stirring continually. Remove from fire, skim and pour quickly.

Certo is a pure fruit product and contains no gelatine or preservatives. Certo is used by experts and housewives everywhere. Get a bottle from your grocer with free recipe book or write for extra copies to Pettin Sales Co., Inc., Rochester, N.Y.

DEPRECIATION OF FOREIGN EXCHANGES

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Further depreciation of French and Italian exchanges took place in today's market, both francs and lire being quoted at new low records for the year.

French francs sold at 63 cents each, compared with yesterday's high of 7.02 1/2, and Italian lire were quoted at 3.84 1/2 cents as compared with yesterday's high of 4.01 1/2 cents.

Heavy purchases of American dollars with continental funds are responsible in part, for the further slump. The new government, which per cent bonds which recently were more than three times over-subscribed in cash subscriptions at par, sold on the New York stock exchange today at 99 3/4, the lowest price to date.

A question that leading Lowell operators in real estate believe should be studied carefully is whether the law may be amended to pass an opinion when the time comes.

Lowell handlers and brokers in real estate circles are among the foremost in the active campaign now starting to have a law enacted by the legislature at the next session regarding the sale of brokers and salesmen to secure operating licenses in the future. The Massachusetts Real Estate exchange, which has many members in this vicinity, has been gathering from various sources throughout the country where new real estate license laws are in process of being discussed.

Take Affirmative Side

Most of the data thus far received in Lowell takes the affirmative side. Some of the members of the Massachusetts exchange have been interviewed by exchange officials, only a small minority are opposed to such a law in this state.

The agitation in favor of licensing real estate brokers and salesmen reached a real "head" night before last at a special meeting of the Massachusetts exchange members in Hotel Bellevue, Boston, as reported in The Sun last evening. At this meeting, several leading Lowell operators were present and voiced approval of the brokers' license proposition. At that meeting also according to a representative of a Lowell concern in attendance, the informal vote taken on the license proposition resulted in 85 ballots favoring the plan and only three members in opposition.

A gathering of local brokers and real estate salesmen was also held this week in the offices of C. W. Johnson & Son on Central street, where plans for the local campaign were arranged and reports received of plenty of co-operation promised in this district.

The agitation in favor of licensing real estate brokers and salesmen is a product of the west and has gradually moved toward the east. New York now has a law which is looked upon as a model and plans are under way to introduce a similar bill in Massachusetts this year.

The New York Law

The salient features of the New York license law, drafted by the New York Real Estate board and now upon the statute books, are as follows:

1. No person other than a licensed broker or salesman may buy, sell, exchange, lease, rent or negotiate loans upon real estate for another and for compensation, officials of courts and public authorities excepted, unless duly licensed. Salesmen of development companies must be licensed as brokers.

2. In actions for commissions, it must be alleged and proved that the plaintiff is a licensed broker.

3. Applications for licenses must be in writing and show business engaged in and residence for past two years.

4. Names and addresses of licensees to be published annually; roster to be furnished free of cost to each licensee.

5. License fees: Cities of first class, brokers $25, salesmen $5. Cities of second class, brokers $10, salesmen $2. Other places, brokers $5, salesmen $1.

6. License and license pocket card to be issued to each licensee.

7. Board to have power to revoke or suspend licenses for violation of license law or court order misconduct of licensees, subject to review by certification.

8. Revocation of license of broker suspended or salesman's license until salesman makes new connections.

9. Brokers not to be responsible for acts of salesmen, in the absence of guilty knowledge.

10. Splitting of commissions with unlicensed persons prohibited. Salesmen not to act nor to receive compensation from any person but employing broker.

11. Violations of bill to be punished by fines or imprisonment.

Laws in Other States

The above is only a partial summary of some of the main features of the New York set of license laws that a good many real estate operators in Massachusetts rather like. Other states that now have similar laws to protect legitimate operators in real estate are Arizona, California, Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Montana, Michigan, New Jersey, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Canada and British Columbia have had similar laws for some years.

In New Jersey the law has worked out nicely, operators say. A score of cases were recently heard by the real estate commission, which is salaried. The cases involved charges of dishonesty, misrepresentation, unworthy conduct, selling of real estate without a license, splitting fees and representing two parties in a transaction without the knowledge of both. Unscrupulous real estate operators can now no longer prey upon New Jersey land and building owners and get away with it under the new brokers' license laws.

Pennsylvania is about to have a new law similar in most respects to the one now operating in New York and New Jersey.

SOVIET SOLDIERS AID IN HUNT FOR AMERICAN

SIMBIRSK, Russia, Oct. 26.—(By the Associated Press.) Soviet soldiers have joined in the search for Philip J. Shield, the American relief worker, who has been missing from his quarters here for 10 days. While the red troopers are seeking traces of him along the valley of the Volga, the government authorities are seeking to interest the populace in the hunt for the young American.

His disappearance is being impressed upon the residents by announcements flashed on movie screens here and in nearby cities. These tell of the reward for finding Shield, give a description of him and ask anyone knowing of his recent whereabouts, to volunteer the information. Never before has this method of searching for a missing person been put into effect in Russia. It was done this time at the request of Joseph Dalton, district supervisor of the relief organization at Simbirsk.

CONFERENCE OF FASCISTI IN ROME

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Benito Mussolini, head of the Italian Fascist movement, has summoned all his chief supporters to a conference today in Rome, according to a dispatch to the Central News.

The official organ of the Fascisti in Rome is quoted as declaring: "We are on the eve of an important event. The conference in Rome comes directly upon the heels of the great Fascist congress at Naples, which closed yesterday."

Naples despatches last night quoted Professor Mussolini as exclaiming upon his departure for Rome: "I take a solemn oath that either the government of the country must be given peacefully to the Fascisti, or we will take it by force."

HARVEST SUPPER IN CHURCH VESTRY

The harvest supper of the Central Baptist church society held last evening in the vestry of the church, was well attended, many guests of the society enjoying the good things provided by the active members of the organization. The supper committee, Mrs. Edwin Whitcomb, chairman, included Mrs. Nellie Parker, Mrs. D. A. Vickery and Mrs. Ervin B. Smith. Members of the 30th Men's association were waiters.

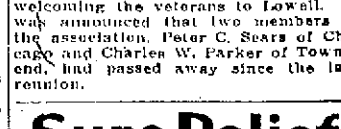

After supper a pleasing entertainment was provided, including readings by Miss Eleanor Reels of West Chelmsford, solos by Harry Busch, piano solos by Miss Edith Blackman and a two-act farce, entitled "Through Children's Eyes," parts being taken by Ruth Ellis, Howard Thayer, Benjamin Adams and James Ellis. The entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Francis O. Dutton, Mrs. F. C. Wiggin and Mrs. Everett Whitcomb.

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE

A new automatic Vaporizer and De-carbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Ford from 25 to 50 per cent, and at the same time removed every particle of carbon from the cylinders in the proof achievement of John A. Strangely, 407 South Main street, Newbury, South Dakota. A remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without drilling or tapping. With it attached, Ford cars have made from 41 to 57 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Strangely wants to place a box of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is able to handle the business which is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. If you want to try one entirely at his risk send him your name and address today. —Adv.

PRISON SENTENCE IN ASSAULT CASE

For assaulting Owen Nerney in the Plaza lunch about 11 weeks ago, Nicholas Constantinos yesterday began serving a term of a year and a half in prison imposed upon him by Judge Hammond of the superior court. Constantinos was brought before the district court six weeks ago and sentenced to serve a year in jail after being found guilty of the assault.

He appealed the court's finding and the case was brought to trial yesterday in East Cambridge. The victim of the assault is confined to his home where he has been since he was discharged from St. John's hospital after being a patient there for nine weeks.

THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The Lowell High School orchestra, after several weeks of rehearsal, is now prepared for a busy season. The school musicians appeared as a unit, for the first time, at the student assembly about a week ago, and made a great impression on the audience.

Frederick B. Hunt, director of music in the public schools, is chiefly responsible for producing the orchestra, and under his capable direction, the present season should meet with continued success.

The personnel for this year is as follows: First Violins, Misses Chausse, Baxter, Greene, Shaw, Ryan, Mountain, Lannon, Sullivan, Mulcahy, Mulligan, Conlon, Finberg and Gertrude Mulligan, Masters Alford, Edney, Lazarski, Goldman, Lomkin and Huse; second violins, Tyne, Craig, Herrman, Keefe, Voffa and Curry; cellos, Masters Roberts, McKittrick and Cantor; clarinets, Masters Onelle and Dockett; saxophone, Master Goggin; trombone, Master Robinson; cello, Miss Gorman, Masters Whitworth, Roy and Donohue; piano, Miss Estes; drums, Master Judge.

PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE AT Y. M. C. A.

The Lowell Y.M.C.A. inaugurated its co-operative educational program with Northeastern university last evening when the course in public speaking, outlined by the United Y.M.C.A. schools was opened.

David St. Wheeler of the staff of Northeastern university gave the introductory address. Mr. Wheeler will be the instructor for the course which will hold its first teaching session next Wednesday night at 7:30. Mr. Wheeler said last night that men's fears of appearing in public cost them thousands of dollars each year. He designated the cause with which men could overcome these particular fears and develop into attractive and pleasing public speakers. Gaining self-confidence, power and ability to speak on one's feet were some of the first factors in public speaking, said Mr. Wheeler.

Following Mr. Wheeler's address, H. P. Howe, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., gave a brief statement of the educational policy of the association.

ADDRESS BY WORLD WAR AVIATOR

Rev. Stanley High of Boston, a World War aviator, who has recently returned from Europe, last night addressed the Lowell Epworth league at a meeting held in the Centralville M. E. church. His topic was "Europe Warring Peace."

He mentioned some of his experiences at the University of Berlin and said that the situation was most acute among the students and intellectual classes in that city, where the former rich people have very little money nowadays. He said that student bodies have become organized and united in order to get their meals cheaper and to have meat at least once a week.

The speaker told of the students of Bombay university, India, who are beginning to look towards Jesus Christ as their student leader and of the great renascence in China. He said that it was interesting to note that of the five Chinese delegates to the peace conference, four were graduates of American mission schools.

WORK ON PLAYGROUND IN NO. BILLERICA

Bids for the moving of 500 cubic yards of earth and rock, paving, grading and preparing the playground of the Kohlrausch playground in North Billerica, have been called for by the town park commissioners. The work will give the youth of Billerica a baseball field of proper size.

The Kohlrausch playground was given to the town ten years ago by Mrs. William V. Kohlrausch, widow of Charles H. Kohlrausch, for many years a citizen of Billerica. The tract comprises four acres and already several thousand dollars have been spent in putting it into shape. The proposed improvement has the backing of the townspeople, particularly those living in the North village.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED BY KING GEORGE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press) King George dissolved parliament today by signing a royal proclamation at a meeting of the privy council at Sandringham. The proclamation will be published in the Official Gazette this afternoon, venturing every parliamentarian sent in the country. The proclamation ordered the assembling of the new parliament on November 20.

Thirteen hundred candidates have up to now entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons. Of these about 425 are conservatives. In round numbers, labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Asquithian or free liberals 300 and the Lloyd Georgean or national liberals 200. The little Welshman who lost his post as prime minister last week, is vigorously striving to increase the number of candidates under his banner.

HAS HE FOUND A CURE FOR ASTHMA?

Simple Prescription Gives Instant Relief. Makes Breathing Easy

In New England, where Bronchial Asthma, whooping cough and other diseases of the throat and lungs are so prevalent, remarkably successful results are being reported in the use of a new form of treatment known as Oxidaze, a physician's prescription.

Oxidaze is a harmless but powerful combination of eucalypti and other medicinal herbs, and compressed into a small tablet. One of these tablets slowly dissolved before going to bed seems to have the effect of releasing the muscular constriction of the bronchial tubes, opening up the air passages and regulating spasmodic lung action. This enables the patient to breathe easily and naturally while lying down and to get a comfortable night's sleep.

So much interest has been shown that local druggists, including Green's drug store, Lisquet's and Lowell Pharmacy have secured a small supply and state that they are authorized to receive the money paid for the first package if in any case this new treatment fails to give relief. Oxidaze is pleasant to take, contains no harmful, habit-forming drugs and is not expensive. This makes their test an easy matter.—Adv.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, but that is to dissolve them. Get about two pieces of calcium powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a box, set cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads makes larger pores, and you can't get all of the blackheads out this way, while this simple application of calcium powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.—Adv.

MISERABLE WITH INDIGESTION

OLD CHATHAM, COLONNETT CO., N.Y.
"I was bothered with Constipation, Liver Trouble and Indigestion for three years, and tried all kinds of medicine without relief. I was so bad I would have a dull, heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach after eating. I saw 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised and bought two 60c boxes. Before I had finished one box, I was relieved and now have no more trouble. I recommend these Fruit-a-lives!"
WM. GALE SHEPHERD.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or from FRUIT-A-LIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N.Y.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED BY KING GEORGE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press) King George dissolved parliament today by signing a royal proclamation at a meeting of the privy council at Sandringham. The proclamation will be published in the Official Gazette this afternoon, venturing every parliamentarian sent in the country. The proclamation ordered the assembling of the new parliament on November 20.

Thirteen hundred candidates have up to now entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons. Of these about 425 are conservatives. In round numbers, labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Asquithian or free liberals 300 and the Lloyd Georgean or national liberals 200. The little Welshman who lost his post as prime minister last week, is vigorously striving to increase the number of candidates under his banner.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

At civil service examinations held recently in Lowell and other New England cities for computer, coast and geologic survey, and assistant observer in meteorology, weather bureau, applicants were met and secured in the number desired, and these examinations will be held again on December 5. Application blanks are supplied at the local post-office.

TRIAL OF L. W. W. MEMBERS

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Oct. 26.—Trial of the members of the Industrial Workers of the World charged with violating the California criminal syndicalism law, which was delayed yesterday because of the illness of Austin L. Lewis, counsel for the defendants, was to be resumed today. The prosecution probably will close its case today.

ACID STOMACH!! MEALS SOUR OR FORM GAS, GAS

Chew a Few Pleasant Tablets Indigestion Gone!

Instant stomach relief! Harrowing! The moment "Pape's Digestine" reaches the stomach all distress from acid stomach or indigestion ends. Immediate relief from heartburn, gas, flatulence, belching, fullness or stomach pressure.

Correct your digestion for a few cents. Millions keep it handy. Druggists recommend it.—Adv.

HAS HE FOUND A CURE FOR ASTHMA?

Simple Prescription Gives Instant Relief. Makes Breathing Easy

In New England, where Bronchial Asthma, whooping cough and other diseases of the throat and lungs are so prevalent, remarkably successful results are being reported in the use of a new form of treatment known as Oxidaze, a physician's prescription.

Oxidaze is a harmless but powerful combination of eucalypti and other medicinal herbs, and compressed into a small tablet. One of these tablets slowly dissolved before going to bed seems to have the effect of releasing the muscular constriction of the bronchial tubes, opening up the air passages and regulating spasmodic lung action. This enables the patient to breathe easily and naturally while lying down and to get a comfortable night's sleep.

So much interest has been shown that local druggists, including Green's drug store, Lisquet's and Lowell Pharmacy have secured a small supply and state that they are authorized to receive the money paid for the first package if in any case this new treatment fails to give relief. Oxidaze is pleasant to take, contains no harmful, habit-forming drugs and is not expensive. This makes their test an easy matter.—Adv.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

Get about two pieces of calcium powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a box, set cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

PEGGY CAFFEE CALLED IN MRS PHILLIPS' TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl friend of the defendant, was expected to take the stand today, at the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with having beaten Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows, 23-year-old widow, to death, with a hammer.

Mrs. Caffee, only known eye-witness to the slaying, gave voluminous testimony before the Los Angeles county grand jury which indicted Mrs. Phillips, and was expected to be on the witness stand both on direct and cross-examination for an extended period.

have been committed. Also appeared in court carrying a crutch and had a bandage upon his nose. It is said that the trouble was brought about by the young man who will be examined as to the soundness of his mental condition. He was arrested last night by Officers Conney and Moore near Humphrey street.

Officer Conney testified that the man was carrying a revolver and a club. The attention of the officers was called to the young man by a woman who complained that he was annoying her and other women in the neighborhood. Officer Conney asked that the case be continued for a few days as he believed that the young man may be mentally unbalanced.

Almed's Discretion Good

Mohamed Ahmed appeared in court, to answer to a charge of illegal keeping. He was in a generally good health despite the fact that he is said to have swallowed a marked dollar bill yesterday, thereby destroying evidence liquor officers claim to have obtained. He pleaded not guilty and his case was continued for 10 days. Ahmed, who keeps a barbershop in Middlesex street, has been before the court several times for violations of the liquor laws. Members of the liquor squad claim they made a sale, but when the defendant saw them coming he stuffed the bill into his mouth and swallowed it. John T. Anderson was called with Ahmed and charged with illegal keeping. His case was postponed also for 10 days.

Stanislaw Kiltwick was found guilty of illegal keeping and paid a fine of $100. Philip Ziolo was fined $20 for assault and battery upon Frank Liba. Yesterday Liba was in court and fined $25 for assaulting Ziolo's wife. The case has been hanging fire for two weeks and was the result of a midnight drinking party and argument over a bird cage. In the argument Liba hit Ziolo's wife, for which he paid yesterday. Ziolo then beat up Liba following the assault. The question today was that Ziolo used unnecessary force in his treatment of Liba. This case was tried before Associate Justice John T. Pickman.

George Fzvidies of Dracont was fined $10 for hunting without a license. He paid.

George A. Regan pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sentenced to the house of correction for one month. David Minskky of Dorchester was found guilty of operating an auto in "Tawitawit" without a license in the possession and was fined $5. It was brought out that he had made a hurried trip from Boston and had neglected to bring his license with him.

ed to have been chased by her drunken husband following the assault.

The officer said that Mrs. O'Grady asked to have her husband arrested. He also stated that when he informed O'Grady of the woman's request he (O'Grady) said that "he would get her for that." The officer stated that Mrs. O'Grady was removed to a hospital in the ambulance following the assault.

O'Grady, whose age was given as 62, appeared to be a big powerful man in his defense he said that he didn't remember what he had done as he was drunk. He said that the stuff one gets nowadays was awful to drink. The court then asked him if he thought that was any kind of an excuse and wanted to know what would have been his alibi if he had killed his wife.

When Mrs. O'Grady attempted to put in a few words in defense of her husband the court said that the case was one in which the community was interested and that the community must be protected.

Following the officer's testimony the court said that the condition of the woman was the best evidence in the world of the assault. Following the sentence O'Grady took an appeal. When the court ordered him held in $300 bond he withdrew the appeal. The charge of drunkenness was filed.

Election Board Not Sure About Mayor's Term

instatement of the officer thus removed.

The present charter gives the mayor the right of removal, but allows the removed person not only to contest it in public hearing and to be represented by counsel, but also provides for reinstatement by a two-thirds vote of the council.

Does Plan B charter mean that an official so removed has no chance of reinstatement? This is a question that fairly may be asked in view of no definite statement concerning it in the charter text, or in the amendatory acts.

If an official is removed by the mayor under Plan B, it is probable that he is out for good, for it is not probable that a council that would approve his removal by a majority vote would turn round and reinstate him by a two-thirds vote. However, there is no word regarding reinstatement in the Plan B skeleton and this may be one of several questions that will need careful interpretation should the new form of charter be accepted on Nov. 7.

LODGE AND HIS FRIENDS

Senator Lodge was the honored guest of the Home Market club at its banquet in Boston on Tuesday evening and was lauded as an "institution." In the bosom of the Home Market club, Mr. Lodge had reason to feel entirely at home. He has no apologies to make to that body, whose object is to support the protective policy and maintain tariff schedules as high as possible.

The Home Market club would bar out all imports, if that were within the scope of its power. And hence it is not at all surprising that the heads of the organization find Senator Lodge as the high priest of ultra-high protection.

But in spite of this attitude of the club, Senator Lodge in his speech offered the strongest defense he could make, and that was weak for the wool schedule. Home industry, home markets, home manufacturers, home everything is set down as dependent upon high tariff protection.

Mr. Lodge dealt with the wool schedule and said it was carried over his head by the interests favoring the high tariff, but in spite of this, he voted for the measure in its entirety. That is characteristic of the senator. He is always compromising principles and policies for political reasons. Had Mr. Lodge fought boldly for his conviction of right and duty during his public career, he could have had the highest office in the gift of the American people; but he stood always ready to compromise because the Home Market club or the republican party or somebody else wanted something different.

Republicans who are defending the high tariff schedules are making many ridiculous statements. Senator Moses of New Hampshire states that but for it we should have none of the luxuries of life nor many of the comforts that we now enjoy. He says the rulers of England in the 18th century did not enjoy comforts equal to those of the common people of this country today. Here we have a man supposed to be intelligent, solemnly claiming that the progress of civilization during the last six centuries has been due to the protective policy of the republican party. Of course it matters not that the period to which he refers antedates the existence of the republican party by several centuries. If the republican spellbinders can prove that this country is better off than any other, that is due to the tariff; and if the wheels of industry move, once more, that, too, we are told, is the effect of the tariff. There is no allowance made for the blessings of freedom, the opportunities for individual initiative or anything of that kind. Around election time these republican leaders seem to think they can crowd any kind of stuff down the people's throats.

Senator Lodge is careful of his statements but the campaigners supporting him are making the most extravagant claims. One of the charges they make is that the democratic party favors free trade. That is untrue. The democratic principle, as it should be the republican, is to impose a tariff covering the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. If the American manufacturer cannot get along with that arrangement which gives him a fair chance in competition, he will have but himself to blame. It is well to get down to some business basis on this matter and this is the only just plan of protection.

But the wool growers and the woolen manufacturers want a tariff that will keep out all foreign goods so that they can charge what they please for their products. That means profiteering and robbery of the people. That is the kind of tariff that is provided in this new law which Senator Lodge helped to push through congress. It is no wonder that he is endorsed by the Home Market club.

DEFEAT MOVIE CENSORSHIP

We are rather surprised that anybody should favor the censorship of moving pictures since the present law is entirely adequate for the purpose if properly enforced.

Since Will Hays became president of the Motion Picture Producers the tone of the moving picture shows has been greatly improved. In reference to the Massachusetts law of censorship which comes before the people on election day, Mr. Hays says:

Censorship means further invasion of the right of free expression by the people and for the people. It means further restriction of the activities of the people and regulation of those activities.

It means the vesting of the power in one man to dictate what people shall see and read. It does not mean better pictures; it means that pictures must suit the ideas of one man whatever those ideas may be.

The present duties of the commissioner of public safety include the supervision of Fire Prevention, the State Police, and the Division of Explosives. An official selected for these functions would scarcely be likely to be highly competent to form the judgment of Massachusetts as to what pictures might not be seen by the state.

It means hundreds of thousands of dollars added to the burden of taxation under which the people are staggering. It means the taxing on of these taxes to the public in the form of higher prices of admission to the theatre.

Obviously censorship strikes at the root of the principles upon which this government was founded and which are set forth so succinctly in Article 1 of the first amendment to the constitution which says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Massachusetts has now a law on the

Teacher Well Pleased
"Well, my boy," said father, "is the teacher quite satisfied with you?" "O, yes, pa quite." "Why? Did he tell you so?" "Yes, the other day he said to me: 'If all my pupils were like you I'd close my school today.' That shows I know enough."

Not Living Together
Tom (who has been away) "Did you and that girl to whom you were engaged last summer get married?" Jack "Yes; but we are not living together." "Why, what's the trouble?" "O, no trouble at all. She married another man and I another girl."

A Thought
"Before you send your letter, read it over. And hold your speech until your wrath has died." "For 'tis better far to wait. And your answer may be late. Then to say the things you should have left unsaid."

Great Eyesight
The witness had made several doubtful statements and the cross-examining lawyer was becoming exasperated. "You mean to tell me," he said, "that you saw this happen in the dark, while you were half a mile away?" "Oh, yes," replied the witness cheerfully. "I can see millions of miles at night."

Correcting Sister
Tommy's mother gave him a book on etiquette instead of the usual "Robinson Crusoe." It thereafter became a greater fragment of home life until Tommy's sister, in attempting to leave the room one day, found herself clutched by the hand and flung violently backward into the coal scuttle. "You ignorant little beast," protested Tommy, "don't you know that a gentleman should open the door for you?"

Too Intelligent
Willie was out riding in his father's lately acquired car. The car didn't work just right, and each time it came to a standstill it happened to be in front of some house. Evidently Willie was thinking of the horse the peddler owned that had been accustomed to stop in front of every house. "Go on," exclaimed Willie, "this car must think it belongs to a peddler." — Los Angeles Times.

Luckless Preacher
An old Scotchwoman was told that her minister used notes, but would not believe it. Said one: "Gang into the gallery and see." She did so, and saw the written sermon. After the luckless preacher had concluded his reading on the last page he said, "But I will not enlarge." The old woman called out from her lofty position: "Ye canna, ye canna, for your paper's give out!"

Birds and Afters
William was thirsty for knowledge, and interesting facts shone like jewels in his brain. "I read today," he said to Michael, "of the wonderful progress made in aviation. Men can now do anything—a bird can do!" But Michael was tired of wonders—he was more matter-of-fact. "Is that so?" he asked. "Well, when you see an airplane fast asleep, hanging on to a branch of a tree with one foot, I'll come and have a look!"

The Future
"Tis well that the future is hid from our sight. That we walk in the sunshine, nor dream of a cloud; We cherish a flower, think not of the blight. And dream of the bloom that may weave us a shroud."

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Are "Velvet No. 1's" never to be dispensed from the stationery and pen-craft stores in the future? I have been trying to buy a "No. 1" pen—the soft-loaded variety that writes easily—for more than a month in local stores, and I find them fairly common, the missing link always being a pen of popular demand in New England newspaper circles. The "No. 2's" and "No. 3's" are made with harder lead that cuts through reporters' notebooks and papers, and always causes trouble when a speech has to be hurriedly jotted in notes or scribbled in headlines and short-hand.

The hard leads require more work to keep them in condition, too, and no ordinary news-gatherer wants to work any harder than he really has to. Besides, sharpening pencils is not his hobby. I am sure the "No. 1's" will reappear again on the local market. I cannot get any information from one or two leading pen mart in this town, and am thinking seriously of writing to the so-called "pen-trust" and find out from headquarters why the "No. 1's" cannot be sold in the Spindle City.

Whenever you hear real news in local horsemanship, you can bank upon it if it comes from the Ryan stables on D street. Local horsemen, whenever they hear D street mentioned, generally think of Arnold J. Ryan, whose fine home and well constructed stables are well known in that district. More than one excellently bred piece of horseflesh has wintered in the Ryan stables where the blankets are of good quality and the feeding regular, morning, noon and night. A man who can give you good pieces of horseflesh, well, you know the answer.

I ran across an old-time Sun newsboy out in Billerica one day last week. You folks who remember the early days of this newspaper, when it was first being put out on the streets and on the newsstands, must know that it was a fine thing to see what sort of a news sheet it was, perhaps remember a bright young newsboy who ran around that first evening distributing Sun's right and left to new customers. His name is Patrick Mahoney, and he is now living out in Billerica, and is a fine home just at the bottom of the long hill leading up to the Centre. I called on Mr. Mahoney the other day to get a little "town news."

Patrick, you know, is a member of the important finance committee of Billerica, which indicates that he is well set down in that little town. He looked me in the eye for the first time—I had never had the pleasure of meeting him before—and asked me how The Sun was selling these days. I had to confess that the demand seemed to be steady and increasing, and Patrick said that he well he hoped some of his old customers, who just had to have The Sun or know why, Patrick doesn't look as old as he really is; he has been successful in business, is popular, has a splendid home to live in, a good running automobile kept in a cosy garage, and is a constant reader of The Sun. He says he couldn't get along without it.

The November speed sale of good horses for road work and tracks is going to be largely attended. I am informed. Local horsemen will be there to capture some good "bays." A number of driving club members are going to Headville, hoping not to miss anything really good. These sales are annual features, and although late in the season, interest never wanes.

Those who have never met Brother Clifton Carberry of the Boston Post had better attend that chamber of commerce luncheon in Liberty hall next Monday and hear him expound. Clifton has been a member of the newspaper fraternity so long that it is getting to be a habit now, and he always has something of interest to talk about. The securing of the Boston editor for this monthly rally of the chamber members and guests—and the meeting is open to all, by the way—was a good card.

Among the names of Civil war veterans inadvertently overlooked by the committee of announcements at the annual reunion of the old Thirty-Third Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteers at Memorial hall, Wednesday, were those of Corp. J. E. Barrows of Silver Lake, Herbert Capen and Charles A. Dunnekin of Sharon, all veterans of the famous old fighting command, and all in excellent health for men of advanced years. Through an oversight on the part of those arranging the reception to the "vets," the names of these three veterans did not appear on the registered list of those present. The Sun is glad to announce the presence of Messrs. Barrows, Capen and Dunnekin, representatives of the forces who bravely served the Union in 1861-65, and add their names to the honorable roll of those who rallied to attend last Wednesday's reunion and campfire in Memorial hall.

BEQUESTS IN WILL OF MRS. MORRISON
The will of Mrs. Mary G. Morrison, who died in this city Oct. 17, was filed for probate at the probate court in East Cambridge yesterday. The estate is valued at $37,000 and of this amount only $7000 in realty. J. Colby Bassett and Theodore E. Parker are named as executors in the will.

The public bequests in the will are as follows: Faith Home, Day Nursery and Temporary Home for Children and Old Ladies Home, $5,000 each; for repairs and taking care of chapter house of Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., trust fund of $10,000; lot of land as site for a memorial library to be known as Moses Greeley Parker library is being given to the town of Dracut. Other bequests are as follows: Home for Aged Women, Nashua, N. H., $5,000; Hampton Institute, Norfolk, Va., $500; and $500 to the Tuskegee Normal and Institute school at Tuskegee, Ala. The residue is in private bequests.

THE ARID OCEAN

(If Mr. Daugherty's ruling holds.)
Once on a time the sea was wet,
As wet as wet could be,
But nowadays you cannot get
A single drink at sea.
Closed is the bar that once with rye
Was stocked so plentifully,
For now the sea has been made dry
By Mr. Daugherty.

Time was the toper found relief,
When three miles out, but now
The heavy lines of hopeless grief
Are graven on his brow.
The three mile limit's vanished quite,
And so in vain we sigh,
For there is no relief in sight,
Since all the seas are dry.

I gaze about me, west and east,
And also north and south,
But there's no chance, no not the least,
Of lessening the drought.
And so I mumble in despair,
As 'round the sea I blink,
"Here's water, water everywhere,
But nothing else to drink!"

NATIONAL FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—A new service for the women and girls of the nation has presented itself in the coming "national forget-me-not day," for America's wounded and disabled veterans of the great war, according to the plans of C. Hamilton Cook, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. On Saturday, Nov. 4, which has been officially designated "forget-me-not day" in practically all of the states of the country, by proclamation from the governors and state executives, many thousands of pretty girls, former women war workers, college girls, fraternal leaders, club women and other ladies in every city and town in the United States will form a great sales force, distributing the little forget-me-nots on the streets of the various communities throughout the nation.

All of the proceeds of the "day" will be devoted to the welfare and relief of the many thousands of wounded and disabled war veterans of the great war, their endeavors for Saturday, Nov. 4, arrangements have been made with the Central Trust company, national treasurer of the fund, to have that bank accept direct donations to "forget-me-not day."

As part of the "national forget-me-not day" campaign, Citizens' committees are being formed in the various cities and towns organizing for the day's activities, and the women and girls of the nation are entering prominently into the general plan of the campaign, as well as the numerous projects to be launched in the interests of the disabled veterans of the land. At the national headquarters of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, in Cincinnati, their national commander, Capt. Cook, has sent out an appeal to the women of the United States, to take up again, on one day, "forget-me-not day," the same kindly interest and keen activity that was manifested by the women of America during the days of the great war; applying to the cause of the wounded and disabled American veterans of the great war, their endeavors for Saturday, Nov. 4, arrangements have been made with the Central Trust company, national treasurer of the fund, to have that bank accept direct donations to "forget-me-not day."

Troops of Far Eastern Republic of Siberia in Complete Possession

Last of Japanese Soldiers Evacuated City Yesterday

—U. S. Gunboat in Harbor

TOKIO, Oct. 26. (By the Associated Press).—Troops of the Red Army representing the far eastern republic of Siberia, were in complete possession of Vladivostok today. The last of the Japanese soldiers evacuated the city yesterday after handing over to the invading force an inventory of the arms left behind and the keys to the warehouses containing them.

An American gunboat, British and French cruisers and Japanese warships remain in the Vladivostok harbor to protect foreigners until the Chinese forces have taken over the administration and assumed responsibility for maintaining order.

The only Japanese soldiers remaining in the city are those in the northern part of Sakhalin Island. But the Japanese public is demanding their return also, as it is feared that restoration of trade with Siberia will be impossible unless this is accomplished.

ABSINTHE SUBSTITUTE DRINKS MUST GO

PARIS, Oct. 26.—All liquors in which the favor or taste of absinthe predominates, must disappear from sale in France before the end of the year. able, forced him to alter it a trifle. Grown somewhat older in the past few years and showing unmistakably the wearing effects of hard campaigning indoors and out and with his voice somewhat shrilled by constant usage, "Honey Fitz" still is an impelling speaker. His magnetism has not dimmed and he made a splendid impression on the 200 or more men and women who gathered to hear him in Paige street.

A trumpeter called bystanders to the side of his automobile and he was presented to the crowd by Andrew E. Barrett, democratic candidate for congress from the 5th district. Mr. Barrett took occasion to mention his own candidacy and charged the republican party with grave responsibility in the present coal situation. He then introduced Mr. Fitzgerald.

The congressional candidates took up national questions first, and in this order: Tariff, the treatment of ex-service men and the handling of the coal strike.

"Even staunch republican organs such as the Boston Transcript and the Boston Herald cannot uphold the party's tariff," he declared, "and there is a wave of democracy sweeping over this old commonwealth today principally because no republican office-seekers dare to stand up and support the acts of a republican president and republican congress."

Mr. Fitzgerald condemned the attitude of the republicans toward the ex-service men and called attention to the action of the American Legion convention in demanding the discharge of Dr. Sawyer. President Harding's personal physician, and the rehabilitation of the hospitalization system.

The coal strike and present situation he touched upon only briefly.

He said Massachusetts in 80 years has had only six democratic governors and in all that time the party never has controlled the house or the senate or the governor's council. He charged the republican party with alliance with financial interests and declared it never has done anything for the rank and file of citizenry.

"Henry Cabot Lodge has been in congress for 35 years," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "and has built up a great reputation for himself, but what has become of Massachusetts? Bankrupt railroads and bankrupt electric street railways we see everywhere. Jiles of idle truckage have come to my attention during my present tour of the state."

"God Almighty, in His wisdom, placed the Atlantic ocean at our very feet and before the war the New England seacoast carried for more than half the merchant marine shipping of the world. Now southern excursion steamers ply over the waters that used

In conclusion, Mr. Fitzgerald asked for complete support of the democratic candidates on Nov. 7 in order that Massachusetts might again be placed in her proper place, economically and industrially.

COL. GASTON ASSAILS G. O. P. ADMINISTRATION

HAVERHILL, Oct. 26.—Col. William A. Gaston, democratic candidate for U. S. senator and John E. Fitzgerald, the party's nominee for governor, addressed large rallies here last night.

Col. Gaston said in part: "The republican party has stood for extreme protection for infant industries. With many sincere members of the party this has been an economic principle. Republican party leaders, however, early discovered that enormous sums of money could be brought into the party treasury by judicious distribution of tariff favors."

"Infant industries grew into sturdy propositions, quite capable of competing with all the world by reason of the skill of the American workman and the great natural resources of the country. But the republican party was not give up so productive a source of revenue. They pushed the doctrine to such an extreme that they periodically upset business by a revision of rates; business could not endure such unstable conditions and as a result, fell into the hands of foreigners."

"A few republican leaders saw the folly of excessive protection, which created a wall around American industry and cut us off from the world markets which were becoming increasingly necessary for us. President McKinley, in his last moments, was endeavoring to modify the protective tariff in a manner to allow all liberal exchange of goods with foreign lands. He particularly aimed at building up a South American trade, which was impossible under the severe restrictions of the McKinley bill. He saw clearly that no country can sell if it will not buy."

"President Roosevelt, in his turn, refused to make part of his policies the extreme protectionist ideas of the republican stand-patters. These unwise republican leaders have been so dependent on the spoils of the system that they have failed to see that its excesses were dangerous to the country that must have foreign trade to which to sell an excess production. They failed to see that each reckless protection bill was followed by a revolt of the country which dispensed their party from power."

"It seems to all political thinkers that the folly of excessive protection has been one of our political life in the last few years. Following the natural reaction from the war, the republicans returned to 'over' protection. Instead of devoting themselves to a policy of reconstruction that would put the country on its feet again, the leaders of the republican party at once broke all the promises of reconstruction. They returned to the one line of action, with which they were familiar."

"A country eager to be on the way to the restoration of the promised normal conditions, was forced to listen to many months of futile discussion on a new tariff bill on the old tariff. Party expediency. It was absolutely folly to try to establish a tariff that should be wisely made until business conditions were settled enough to show what the country needed. But the old party went at the old job in the old way, regardless of the country's needs of their party's road."

"It is admitted that Reed Smoot wrote the sugar schedule which so benefits the Mormon church and the later-mountain beet growers. Senators who owned vast flocks of sheep controlled the woolen schedule. And so, through the list, the dominant party voted tariff favors where they would do the most good to the party, forgetful of the American workman and his family, of their food and clothing, and of the industry that must have foreign markets for the American manufacturer and worker are to prosper."

Teachers' Convention

The speakers are of a national reputation. The three sessions plan will give every teacher an opportunity to hear an interesting address. The following are the speakers:

Channing Cox, governor of Massachusetts, Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington, D. C., Dr. William C. Bagley, associate superintendent of schools, New York City, Mr. William Walter Lewis, director United States chamber of commerce, Prof. William C. Bagley, Teachers' college, Columbia University, New York City, Dr. Caroline Goodale, professor of hygiene, New York State college for Teachers, Albany, N. Y., Dr. Maurice A. Bigelow, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, Professor Stephen L. Colvin, department of education, Brown University, Providence, R. I., Prof. Leonard V. Rice, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

The Masteringers will furnish music at the elementary school section in Converse hall at the beginning of the afternoon session.

The financial support of the convention comes entirely from the annual dues. By vote of the executive committee the dues are thirty-five cents (35c) for all teachers whose salary exceeds $1,000 and twenty-five cents ($25c) for those receiving $1,000 or less.

DOWNES AND ST. HILAIRE MEET TONIGHT

With several new faces in this "thrilling" card for tonight's Moody club show at the Crescent rink looks like a hummer.

In the main event Johnny Downes of South Boston, who has battled all from Johnny Dunder down the line, and who only recently appeared in a sensational 16-round number with Philney Boyle, will meet Joe St. Hilaire of Somersworth, N. H., a "new comer" in local rings, but well known by reputation.

Downes has trained carefully and well in Boston, while St. Hilaire has worked out for more than two weeks, with Young Martin Flaherty and others at Wrentham. According to the statements of their managers, both boys are fit for a grueling battle.

A victory means a lot to either boy. If Downes wins on top, he will go after Boyle, and the other notable, Should St. Hilaire win he will be in a position to demand a position on any of the lightweights in this vicinity.

In the semi-final Young Flaherty is to meet Danny Graham in the preliminary. Freddie Jackson of Lawrence will meet Nick McDonough of Lexington and Tony Dalton of Boston will exchange punches with George Cassin of Lawrence.

H. S. FRESHMEN TRIM MITCHELL SCHOOL

The freshman football team of the high school played its first game of the season yesterday afternoon, when it defeated the Mitchell school team of Billerica by the score of 10-0.

The first touchdown came after five minutes of play. Hiram, Hiram and Hiram, rushed the ball from mid-field to the goal line and over. Mitchell scored the second touchdown in the third quarter by a beautiful run, while the final score came on a long forward pass. Mitchell to Stackpole, who planted the ball behind the line for the last score. The lineup:

STATZ SAVED CUBS $10,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Failure of Arnold Statz, publisher of the Chicago National, to keep up his bid on the last four games of the 1922 season, saved his club $10,000. It was revealed yesterday.

The Chicago club had agreed to pay the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league this amount in addition to the cash and players already given for Statz. If the star shortstop failed to bat in the last four games, the season with a batting average of .300 or better, Statz knew nothing of this agreement.

Statz finished the season with an average of .227, according to unofficial figures. Four days before the season closed the little outfielder was traded to the Cubs for a pair of $30,000.

In his last four games he made only three hits in 16 times at bat.

"NO GIRLS, NO GAME" Gridiron Man Protests Barring of College Girls Who Staged "Pajama Party"

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Fifteen young women students at Marshall college here staged a pajama party in their dormitory last night.

CADETS AND BUTLERS' MEET POSTPONED

As was expected, the football teams representing the D. M. I. Cadets and the Butler A. A. will again meet on the gridiron here Saturday afternoon, the existing conditions making it impossible for the game to be played on the date last Sunday.

Over 1000 spectators attended last Sunday's game and opinion was unanimous in voting it the best played, the most exciting and the closest game.

Sparking mark previously set for the coming Sunday, but owing to injuries sustained in the last meeting, it became necessary at a conference of the rival managers, to postpone the gridiron battle another week, and thereby, allow the indisposed members of the squads to recuperate. Neither side wants to win against a second string line of backfield and for this reason, it is but natural that one week from Sunday be the date for the next struggle.

One of the many features of the last historic battle, and one which apparently escaped notice, was the able manner in which the game was conducted by the officials in charge. Dr. Matt Mahoney, as referee, performed in his customary stellar manner and kept the players moving with consistent regularity while the work of umpire John Neeson and head linesman, Jimmie Liston, was all that could be desired. The crowd, too, appreciated the great nervous tension which the players were undergoing and kindly kept on the side lines allowing play to proceed without interruption and at an equal opportunity to view the actions of the gladiators. With such conditions prevailing, it is small wonder that the Cadets and Butlers have revived football interest here in Lowell and made their activities on the gridiron, the talk of the entire sport populace of the city.

The Cadets of the respective teams, D. O'Connor, of the Cadets, and Irving Loucort, of the Butlers, are both incapacitated at present, the former with a torn ligament in his arm and the latter with a bad nose bruise. Injuries are of a minor nature, however, and the team leaders are recuperating rapidly. They attend the practice sessions of their charges nightly and uphold their acquaintance with the players by calling signals, pointing and encouraging. As has been stated, the next meeting should be a reproduction in miniature of a regular stadium attraction. "But red."

DISCIPLINE WON SERIES SAYS CHASE

Frank Chase, known as the "Fearless Leader" in the days when he was winning pennants with the Chicago Cubs, still retains a keen interest in baseball.

Chase came on from California to take in the world series. In his days as manager, discipline was always a factor for discipline. On any ball club that Chase ever managed his word was law.

The finish of the world series Chase was asked to express an opinion of what was the determining factor in the series.

SHAPING UP FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

The Lowell football practice will be held tomorrow morning instead of the afternoon as has been the custom. The high school has no session tomorrow and Coach Liston will get the players in shape for Saturday's game.

Extra practice for Saturday's game will be held at the high school. The game will be out of the game. The game will be out of the game. The game will be out of the game.

PRINCETON LINEUP FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The lineup of the Princeton football eleven which will open the game with Chicago University on Saturday in the Windy City has practically been determined. According to Coach Bill Roper, those tentatively selected are: Gorman, quarterback; Cleaves, fullback; Crum, halfback; Emery or Caldwell, halfback; Great and Baker, tackles; Dickinson (captain) and Shively, guards.

The remaining three positions are undecided, choice for center being between Alfred or Griffin with probably Gray and Tilden as ends.

Final practice was held this morning. The squad of 35 men, four coaches and three managers, was to depart on a special train today for Chicago.

A light workout will be held on Saturday afternoon.

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON TEXTILE CONDITIONS NORTH AND SOUTH

System Manager of Department of Business of Boston Bank Addresses Lowell Ad Club—Speaker Says Northern Textile Mill Owners Are "Victims of Lassitude and Stagnant Conditions"

Calling upon Lowell Textile operators to "come out of their lethargy" and arise to meet the menacing competition of the rapidly growing and prosperous textile industries of the southern sections of the country, William J. Fortune, system manager, department of business, of the National Shawmut bank of Boston, gave a lengthy and forceful address to the Lowell Ad Club after the noon banquet yesterday in club quarters.

The speaker was equipped with facts and figures that made the New England textile industries look for the first time in a business administration way compared with new and increasing industrial organizations in the south now in operation at many southern points.

Declaring that northern textile mill owners were "victims of lassitude and stagnant conditions" and deploring the "lack of energy exhibited during the past few years in local textile circles," Mr. Fortune gave concrete examples of the great increase in southern mill construction and employment, and described the way in which the mills in the south were being built and living conditions.

He insisted that these conditions were greatly benefiting the industries and making contented, happy workmen, resulting in good production, regular work and increased output. Against northern conditions, which were dwindling away "because of shameful lethargy and lack of old-time business energy" in many textile quarters, not excepting Lowell.

Blitting straight from the shoulder, the speaker said in part:

"Come with me to the ideal cotton producing section of the sunny south—the Piedmont section. I take this for one example of the prosperity that has come to our southern neighbors in the cotton industry. There is plenty of good fresh air and sunshine, homes for families, each separately arranged with garages, etc. for each home; plenty of good water, lighting equipments, etc. fuel, good wages and generally better living conditions all around than can be found in Lowell or any other northern industrial city of its size.

Tribute to Operators

"Most of the people down there are of excellent stock, Irish and Scot, coming to the cities to work in the mills and find new homes and more money than they ever earned before. They are not 'poor white trash' at all, as some northerners think. They are the finest people we have in America today—strong, sturdy, clean-living and educated. They like just as good living conditions as you do here in Lowell, and are provided with everything. They are human, and they appreciate good homes and good treatment."

"In Piedmont, and in Greenville, and other cities, the textile game is being played fairly with all employees. To be sure the wages are not quite so high down there, but living conditions are better and it doesn't cost so much to live. Colored people do not work with white people in the mills as some suppose. That is not allowed. And that protects the mills from any labor troubles, for there are no unions down there to annoy in any way. In Charlotte there are some union organizations, but they have been entirely unproductive for some time and are not active this season at all."

Mr. Fortune declared that Spartanburg was another city that had wonderful industrial conditions. He described the rise of numerous mill owners from the "ground up." Some of the leaders in the southern textile industry, like Victor Montgomery of Spartanburg, started without a dollar. He was handicapped by the loss

CHICAGO JUSTICE ISSUES STAY ORDER SAVING SCHOOLBOARD FROM JAIL

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Justice Orrin N. Carter of the state supreme court this afternoon, issued an order staying the high court's mandate on which deputy sheriffs were seeking four present and former school-board officials who would have been lodged in jail for contempt. One trustee, Hart Hanson, already was in jail and two others had served one day sentences. Justice Carter's order will prevent the sheriff from jailing Albert H. Severinghaus, former president of the schoolboard, and still a member; William H. Birther, former attorney for the board; George B. Arnold, state director of labor, and formerly a trustee, and Francis E. Croarkin, a trustee pending some further legal action.

CLERK TESTIFIES BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT IN PONZI CASE WIRE DESPATCHES

Tells of Huge Sum Being Withdrawn Hurriedly From Bank Believed Ponzi Was Dealing in International Reply Coupons

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Testimony that $2,300,000 standing in the Hanover Trust Co., to the account of Charles Ponzi was withdrawn between July 17 and July 23, 1920, was given in superior court today by Miss Lucy Mell, the secretary of the bank. Miss Mell, the former companion of Ponzi's former secretary, testified that she saw Ponzi and five of his agents being tried on charges of larceny and conspiracy.

Miss Mell, who said that she did not know what became of the money, asserted that $1,800,000 was withdrawn from the bank between July 17 and July 23, the date on which Ponzi stopped receiving investments in his fifty per cent in 45 days' scheme.

The witness identified six checks of $200,000 each, endorsed by Ponzi and made payable to Mrs. M. J. Mell, daughter of the Hanover Trust Co. Miss Mell said that Ponzi's account in the bank was charged to the name of Lucy Martell, after a warning had been received at Ponzi's office that the money for Ponzi's scheme was being withdrawn. She said that the former director of the Charles F. Smith Co. of the Hanover Trust Co. by the name of the account was transferred to a fictitious name.

On cross-examination by Ponzi, who is acting as his own counsel, Miss Mell said she never had any doubt that Ponzi was dealing in international reply coupons. She did not change her mind, she said, until he pleaded guilty in the federal court in December, 1920.

She said Ponzi had given orders for the purchase of 100,000 Italian lire.

SUICIDE LEAVES LETTERS TELLING REASONS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 25.—A letter explaining his own state of mind and the reasons, in the opinion of the authorities, why Louis Powell of Brooklyn, N. Y., took his life last night, by including a glowing gas light body was found today in a room here which he engaged yesterday afternoon.

The letter addressed "To my sweetheart" contained these words: "Dearest Helen: Forgive me. Economic conditions were against me. Forgive me, please."

Another letter was addressed to the social laborer, Bronx, New York, and it said: "Sorry cannot carry on the good work, but in the end and in a grave I will be a revolutionist."

A letter addressed to Powell's parents said he was desperate and sick and had decided to end it all.

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition when she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel better and can do my household work without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble. Give it a fair trial. It surely helped Mrs. Hatfield, just as it has many, many other women.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Have to Go

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits Are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee It in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the condition of your kidneys and bladder. If they are clogged up with toxins, you cannot live long and happily. If you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, uric acid, blood, or highly colored urine, bleeding, or flatulence with loss of flesh, or any other tendency to Bright's disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you."

Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfeeling certainty. If you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day. Buy Dr. Howard's Kidney and Bladder Pills at once, and every good druggist should be authorized to return the purchase money on the first bottle to all who state they have received no benefit. Adv.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25.—Oscar Miller, John Peters and George M. Karsargian detained last night by Sheriff Graham on suspicion of larceny of merchandise from the wrecked cars at West Edmouth, the previous night, were released today. Sheriff Graham decided the evidence did not warrant their being brought into court.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—John E. Mack, who has been appointed special prosecutor to try Walter S. Ward, millionaire baker's son, charged with the murder of Clarence Peters, a former sailor, announced today that the case would be presented in court next month, or possibly early in the year.

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and griping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptianenna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enos S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!

Also Passes Resolution of Confidence

GLASGOW, Oct. 26.—(By the Associated Press) Prime Minister Bonar Law was unanimously adopted today as the conservative and unionist candidate for parliament from the central division of Glasgow. A resolution of confidence in him was passed.

Prime Minister Andrew Bonar Law, in discussing his policy, told a meeting of the West Scotland Unionist Association today: "My strong belief is that this nation needs above everything else, rest and tranquillity, and my policy will be a negative one in this sense."

CARNIVAL BIG SUCCESS

Capacity Crowd on Closing
Night of Knights of Columbus Carnival

Associate hall again witnessed a capacity crowd last night when the three-day carnival in aid of the K. of C. building fund was brought to a close, following a most successful afternoon and evening. It was estimated by those in charge that last night's crowd surpassed, in numbers, any of the gatherings of the preceding nights, in view of which, practically the entire array of merchandise was disposed of. It was a glorious finish indeed to a splendid event.

The afternoon was devoted to the children of the city, while the evening was featured with the sale of carnival and mid-way goods, an orchestral concert and general dancing until midnight. Michael A. Keefe acted as floor director during the dancing, assisted by Fred Ritchie and John Flannery. Grand Knight John E. Hart, as on the preceding nights, was in general charge, the sale of goods, and when the affair concluded at midnight, with a few articles remaining on the many tables, he and the supervising committee voted it the most successful event ever conducted under such auspices.

The gratitude of those in charge, expressed to the various sub-committees, who devoted their time and energy to making the occasion possible, to the generous donations of the business men of the city; to the volunteer women solicitors; to Francis J. Rennie, manager of Associate hall, whose staff of assistants and the council were without a parallel; and last, but not least, to the public in general, whose patronage, by way of contributions, will long be remembered. Rarely has there been such a wonderful response from the people of Lowell and surrounding towns, as on the closing night of the carnival.

The following prize winners were announced: Prize of coal, donated by the Cawley Coal Co., won by Miss Laura McDonald of Guilford avenue, North Chelmsford; barrel of Bridal Veil flour, donated by the Frank W. Poye Co., won by G. Keane of Brooks street; prize for Keefe's theatre, donated by Benjamin Pickett, won by William Keenan of Old street; chest of silver won by Mrs. George Keefe, 25 Myrtle street; silver service won by Mrs. Thomas Keyes, 65 Westford street; auto electric lamp won by C. H. Burns of Methuen street; cord tire won by John J. Sullivan, 132 Hampshire street; ham bag won by Edward J. Walsh of Tewksbury; box of cigars won by Thomas O'Donnell; lace collar won by Mr. Miller, 29 Andover street; $10 gold piece won by Miss Ethel L. White, 50 White street; $25 gold piece won by Cornelius Cronin, Varum avenue; silver berry spoon won by James McCann of Centralville. The Jewett sedan, for which thousands of tickets have been sold; the beautiful parlor suite, donated by the A. E. Miller Co.; and suit of clothes, donated by D. S. O'Brien, and silver donated by Willis J. Pelletier, will be awarded at a date to be announced later. It is stated by the committee that in order to give everybody an equal opportunity to win any of all these valuable prizes, it will be necessary to wait until all returns are completed. As this will take a little time, the disposal of the same has been deferred to some future date.

The latter is necessary because the affair has been promoted on such a large scale that it will be some few days before all matters can be cleared up. Chairman John E. Hart and General Secretary Arthur J. O'Neill expressed the hope today that the details remaining to be cleared up would be attended to as early as possible.

An act which merited much commendation last night was that of Mr. Charles Schloss of 21 Harris avenue, who won a 25-pound box of chocolate, which he, in turn, donated to St. Peter's orphanage. As a final word, holders of automobile and other tickets are requested to make returns as early as possible.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS
Absentee ballots for the state election are beginning to arrive at the office of the board of election commissioners, to be opened and counted with the regular ballots on Nov. 7. On ballot has been received from a Lowell citizen now in the state of Washington, while others have come from cities and towns nearer home.

JAMES C. REILLY SPEAKER

Assistant District Attorney
Will Speak at A. O. H.
Anniversary Observance

At the 19th anniversary of Division 11, A.O.H., which is to be celebrated tomorrow night, James C. Reilly, assistant district attorney, will be the principal speaker. All members of the local divisions of the A.O.H. and their friends are cordially invited to attend. Following Mr. Reilly's address, a social and entertainment will take place under the direction of officers of the division, which include: President, Jas. McManis; vice president, Patrick Flinnick; treasurer, John Flinnick; financial secretary, William Nelson; and recording secretary, John Mealey. Songs will be rendered by several singers and orchestral selections given. It is expected that Thomas F. Linehan, president of the Central council, together with his staff, will attend as special guests of the evening.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES IN MIDDLESEX STREET

Building construction on the north side of Middlesex street in the vicinity of Revere street, where a one-story structure 110 feet by 37 feet is being erected to provide eight separate mercantile places of business, is expected to be completed by Dec. 1. The building is owned by H. E. Cline and Joseph Segal of Boston, who said today that the property represented an $50,000 investment.

Work was started on the foundations about four weeks ago after the job of removing old-time structures that stood on the site was completed. The property was purchased from the Appleton mills, and the new building is put up for investment purposes purely, according to Mr. Cline.

The stores are being constructed of wood and Winchester brick. The cellar required a great deal of work, and the concrete and stone being cleared away for the cement floors. In that area.

Space is now being reserved by Lowell merchants in the new quarters. One market has already selected quarters on the lower side of the construction plan.

The steel front of the new building will be of limestone. All show windows will be large and of plate glass. A wide passageway for shipping purposes is retained in the rear of the building, the entrance leading from Revere street.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Charles E. Gorman and Miss Julia A. McNulty were married last night at the Immaculate Conception rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Very Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I. The bride was Miss Vereduna A. Boyle, a cousin of the bride, while the best man was Mr. William Clark. The couple will make their home in this city.

Daily—Herald
The marriage of Mr. George Edward Daily of this city and Miss Josephine Reardon of East Chelmsford took place Tuesday at the Sacred Heart church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Charles P. Barry, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Miss Christine J. Gordon and Mr. James J. Walsh of New York, who acted as bridesmaid and best man, respectively. The couple will make their home in this city.

Ministry—Tobin
At St. Patrick's rectory, October 23, Mr. Walter McNerney and Miss Mary Tobin, two popular young people of this city, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. James A. Sipple. The bride wore white satin trimmed with chamois lace and carried a bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Christine J. Gordon and Mr. James J. Walsh of New York, who acted as bridesmaid and best man, respectively. The couple will make their home in this city.

Lavigne—Durand
A pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon when Mr. George D. Lavigne, a prominent member of the C.M.A.C. and the Maple Leaf camp and Miss Enilda Durand, a popular young woman of St. Joseph's parish, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. L. G. Bachant, O.M.I. The bride was attended by Miss Christine J. Gordon and Mr. James J. Walsh of New York, who acted as bridesmaid and best man, respectively. The couple will make their home in this city.

Durand—Allard
The marriage of Mr. Patrick Durand of Manchester, N. H., and Miss Blanche Allard of this city took place yesterday at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Very Rev. J. E. Tarant, O.M.I. The bride wore a gown of white lace and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by her father, Mr. Jos. Allard, while the bridesmaid was Miss Christine J. Gordon. The couple will make their home in Manchester, N. H.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT FOR LOWELL MAN

A verdict in the sum of $201.71 was rendered this noon by the jury at the civil session of the superior court in the case of Mahomed Kader of this city vs. Sam Hill of Billerica, an action of contract in the sum of $300. In this case the plaintiff sought to recover the amount of a loan alleged to have been made to the defendant on a note.

The case of Mrs. Louisa Hinnaford of Arlington vs. the Charles River Trust Co. of Cambridge, which went to trial Tuesday afternoon, was brought to a close last night. The jury, who had been requested to answer "yes" or "no" to the question, "Did the bank discharge the mortgage at the request of the plaintiff?" returned an answer in the negative. This case involved a mortgage of $5000, which the plaintiff claims she gave the bank as a security on a $500 loan, the plaintiff claiming that the mortgage was never returned to her although the loan obligations had been met by her.

A couple of cases were set for this morning and, owing to the fact that no other case was ready for trial, Judge Cox adjourned court until tomorrow morning.

"IN THE BAG" FOR AD CLUB MEMBERS

A short time ago, Frank McInnes, chairman of the committee in charge of the souvenir dinner to be held under the auspices of the Lowell Ad club on Dec. 7, sent out 286 letters to various advertisers of nationally known products, requesting them to send a sample of their goods to this city for distribution at the dinner. Today, E. W. Gallagher, secretary of the club, received several replies to the requests, stating that the firms in question would be glad to have their goods represented at the novel affair.

On the date of the dinner, each member will receive a bag, in which will be deposited the various wares of the producers, perhaps a hundred individual samples in each bag. Mr. McInnes will address 300 more letters during the week in the hope of securing as many samples as possible.

CHARGED WITH BRUTAL MURDER OF WIFE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 26.—Henry J. Burns was looked on a charge of murder here early today, charged with the brutal killing of his third wife, whose mutilated body was found almost nude in a shallow grave in the woods of Painesville, late yesterday afternoon. Burns admits he was in the woods near the scene of the killing just before the body was found, according to police, but denies all knowledge of the crime.

He was taken into custody here late yesterday afternoon on information furnished by Lake county authorities and for eight hours was subjected to a "third degree" grilling at police headquarters, but no confession was wrung from him.

Just before the murder charge was placed against him, he was confronted with a photograph of his wife, Mrs. Hazel Burns, 29, taken as she lay in the morgue at Painesville, her face crushed and torn, her nose fractured and her right eye marked by a bullet hole.

The prisoner clasped his hands over his eyes, shrank back in his chair, and cried out: "I wish I was where she is now."

Burns admitted his third wife, the victim of the murder, had accused him of paying attention to other women, police declare, and he confessed their marital life had been turbulent for the last few months.

On the date of the dinner, each member will receive a bag, in which will be deposited the various wares of the producers, perhaps a hundred individual samples in each bag. Mr. McInnes will address 300 more letters during the week in the hope of securing as many samples as possible.

PARKER FUND LECTURES

Many Disappointed Because of Inability to Secure Season Tickets

An unprecedented demand has brought disappointment to many who had hopes of securing season tickets to the Moses Greeley Parker fund course.

On Monday of this week 2000 season tickets were placed at the Memorial Auditorium, for distribution between the hours of 3 and 5 p. m., but in less than an hour they were gone. One thousand more tickets were secured, but this was not so, for a situation developed that was not anticipated and for which there seemed to be no satisfactory remedy.

Perhaps the thought came to some that prior notices had been misleading, but this was not so, for a situation developed that was not anticipated and for which there seemed to be no satisfactory remedy.

In addition to the personal distribution at the Auditorium box office, it had been announced that mail orders would be filled and it was found that these orders already at hand, more than took up the extra 1000 tickets that had been printed. Hundreds of people sent self-addressed and stamped envelopes to the office who cannot be accommodated and therefore it is not surprising that there were no tickets to be had on personal application yesterday.

However, the fact that the season tickets are all gone does not mean that admittance to any of the lectures or concerts is not possible, for there will be 1000 seats available after 3000 tickets already have been secured. As has been stated time after time, the season ticket holders must be seated before 7:45 p. m. on the evening of a course entertainment, for at that time the general public will be admitted, without ticket, to the balcony of the hall, which is approximately 1000.

The committee in charge of the course regrets sincerely the apparent mix-up, but explains it in the manner aforementioned, saying that the answer is that the demand far exceeds the accommodations.

Last year, when the high school assembly hall was filled to overflowing at every entertainment, it was believed this would be all done away with when the more spacious Auditorium became available, but from the day the four lectures were held, with 4000 seats available, the only conclusion is that if 10,000 could be accommodated, that many tickets would be disposed of.

No restriction will be ordered by the commission unless such application or preliminary investigation discloses that there are good and sufficient reasons therefor under the law. If information contained in the application is deemed insufficient, the commission may require the applicant to amend his application or submit evidence orally or in writing.

Applications made under Section 316 must be made under oath and together with the evidence submitted with it, shall be considered by the commission with a view to determining whether the entry of all goods should be prohibited pending further inquiry.

In the case of all investigations witnesses summoned will be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the federal courts such fees and mileage to be paid by the party at whose instance the witness appears, according to a report from St. John's hospital today.

Many Lowell people are planning to avail themselves of the opportunity to visit and inspect the Charlestown navy yard on "Navy Day" tomorrow. From 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. the famous navy yard will be open to public inspection positively free of charge. The big battleships and destroyers will be on exhibition during those hours, while a band concert, football game and dancing will be offered as entertainment by the authorities in charge.

FOR CHANGES IN TARIFF RATES

Investigations to Determine Necessity of Alterations
May Be Made

Tariff Commission May Act
on Own Initiative as Provided for Under Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Investigations to determine the necessity for changes in tariff rates as provided for under the so-called flexible provisions of the new tariff law, may be made by the tariff commission on its own initiative, under rules of procedure made public today by the commission. This applies not only in the case of Section 316, dealing with unfair methods in the importation of goods, but also to Section 315, which provides for an increase or decrease of as much as 50 per cent in the rates fixed by congress or for the declaration of American valuation as the basis for assessing an ad valorem duties.

Under the new rules application for an investigation under these sections or Section 317, dealing with discriminations by foreign countries against American goods and commerce, may be made by any person, partnership, corporation, or association. Such application must be in writing and must contain a "short and simple" statement of the relief sought and the grounds therefor.

No investigation will be ordered by the commission unless such application or preliminary investigation discloses that there are good and sufficient reasons therefor under the law. If information contained in the application is deemed insufficient, the commission may require the applicant to amend his application or submit evidence orally or in writing.

Applications made under Section 316 must be made under oath and together with the evidence submitted with it, shall be considered by the commission with a view to determining whether the entry of all goods should be prohibited pending further inquiry.

ELECTION BOARD NOT SURE ABOUT MAYOR'S TERM OF OFFICE

Commission Will Not Decide as to Whether Plan B Gives Mayor One-
Year or Two-Year Term Until
Question Has Been Passed Upon
By Some Competent State Official

The election commission will not make a decision on whether a mayor is to be elected under Plan B for a one-year or two-year term until the matter has been passed on by some state official competent to correctly interpret the phraseology of the charter act and its amendments.

At present the commission inclines to the belief that a mayor's term under Plan B shall be two years, but admits the question is open to argument and inasmuch as it has been raised, will settle it by appeal to the state.

Of great importance is that section of Plan B that provides for the removal of a municipal board of commission by the mayor, provided this removal has the approval of a majority of all members of the city council. The section goes on to say the removed official, after being furnished with the reasons for his removal, may contest it before the city council.

There the section ends, without saying anything concerning a possible re-election.

STREET DEPARTMENT MORE THAN LIVES UP TO PAVING PROGRAM

In Addition to Schedule by City Engineer, Department Has Done
Extra Work Unprecedented in Local History—Block Paving Program for 1923

Not only has the street department lived up to its 1922 paving program, but it has exceeded it in an extent almost unprecedented in local history. In March of this year, City Engineer Stephen Kearney submitted a four-year paving program to the board of public service that was adopted and when work began last spring it was based entirely on the 1922 schedule of work.

This schedule called for the paving

Grave Robbery and Arson Charged

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—The case of Mrs. Harry Brenn, charged with grave robbery and arson, was on call in justice court today on continuance from Oct. 19. Her husband, charged jointly with her, still is sought by police. Mrs. Brenn denies any connection with the fire or grave theft, and has been at liberty on bond.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION FOR WIFE BEATER

Found guilty of a most brutal assault upon his wife, Robert O'Grady was this morning sentenced to serve one year in the house of correction by Judge Enright. When O'Grady was arraigned in district court he pleaded guilty to drunkenness. His wife was brought forward her head swathed in bandages, her face puffed and both eyes nearly closed, the result of the assault.

The court asked her if she wished to make any complaint against her husband. She said she did not care to do so. The court, however, said that it wasn't possible for him to overlook such an assault and ordered an assault and battery complaint issued. This was obtained in a few minutes. O'Grady pleaded not guilty to the assault but was found guilty. Previous to the finding, the court called Mrs. O'Grady forward and told her of her constitutional rights which permitted her to refuse to testify against her husband. She did not care to testify. Patrolman Patrick Sullivan testified that he was called to the O'Grady house yesterday afternoon and found Mrs. O'Grady outside, where she claimed.

PONZI GRILLS STATE WITNESS

Attempt to Show He Was "Held Up" for $55,000

Declares He Will Prove That He Had Always Kept His Word

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Charles Ponzi, who is defending himself against state indictments alleging larceny and conspiracy in his quick-rich scheme of two years ago, asserted in superior court today that whereas the government had continually alleged that he had made false representations, he intended to show that he had not, and that he always kept his word.

In examining Joseph Daniels, a government witness, who once claimed a partnership with Ponzi because of a loan made the financier, the defendant asserted that Daniels and the latter's attorney had successfully demanded $55,000 in settlement of the million dollar suit brought by Daniels. This demand, Ponzi said, was made at a time when his business was in a critical condition and he paid the $55,000 to settle the litigation.

Ponzi also said that he intended to show that statements made by Daniels in the present trial differed from those given by him before the referee in bankruptcy in federal court. At one point of Ponzi's examination of Daniels, Judge Fawcett said:

"I desire very much to restrict this defendant, who is not an attorney and who perhaps does not realize that the questions he is putting are of little if any materiality to the points at issue."

The court then explained certain rules of evidence, and Ponzi replied:

"I want to show that at a time of financial stress, I was 'held up' by the witness and his attorney for $55,000."

"You want to show that his action handicapped you?" asked the court.

"Yes," Ponzi answered.

"Very well," said Judge Fawcett, and the examination continued.

Bluenose Wins Final Race and Cup

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 26.—The Lunenburg schooner Bluenose today defeated the American challenger Henry Ford in the third race for the championship of the North Atlantic. The Bluenose finished at 3:48:47. At that time the Ford was two miles astern.

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 26. (By Associated Press).—The Gloucester schooner Henry Ford and the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose were sent away at 11 o'clock today on the start of their third official race for the international trophy with the Bluenose leading by 15 seconds and going fast.

The official starting times were: Bluenose 11:01:06; Ford 11:01:21. Capt. Walters won all the honors at the start. Ten minutes before he boarded the Bluenose to weather the Ford and both boats came down from the West Gloucester shore before the wind. Five minutes before the start, the Ford, instead of giving over and heading for the start, tacked ship and lost nearly two minutes while in staylines. The Bluenose headed for the line with the Ford 200 yards astern. The Bluenose in such a fine berth was in no hurry to cross, but when the start signal was fired, she picked up her skirts smartly and dashed over the line with a great burst of speed. The Ford was slow in reaching the line and followed 27 seconds later.

At 11:15 the Bluenose, hard on the port tack, luffed for inshore and then headed out for the mark with a commanding lead of 300 yards which seemed to increase at every mile. Her boats and their staylines pulling hard and made fast time as they dashed along the Cape shore to the first mark. The Ford caught the Bluenose at the second mark, but could not get between the Bluenose and the buoy. The Ford's crew was slow in shifting the staysail and the Bluenose gained 20 yards on this account.

The Ford's foremast broke on half way up and the jib topsail fluttered into the water alongside. The Bluenose was nearly a half mile ahead at the time, and seemed to have the race well in hand. The dismasting of the Ford apparently settled the race.

The wind was blowing about 15 miles an hour and the boats had covered about three miles of the fourth leg when the Ford's topmast went by the board. She kept right on with bare poles like flagstaffs. The Bluenose continued, holding the port tack well off shore and increasing her lead every minute. The men sent into the foretop of the Ford were evidently trying to steady up some kind of a jack stay to steady the wavering of the foremast, but the effort was in vain.

At 1:50 the Bluenose had the race well in hand, taking in her staysail. She had taken in her foremast five minutes before. Captain Walters let the Bluenose run along easily, making no effort to pinch her, as the Ford was dropping astern steadily. The shortening of sail by the Bluenose put the two boats under the same upper canvas, but the Bluenose had the advantage of her jib topsail.

At 2 o'clock the Ford was nearly a mile astern but seemed to be picking up. The breeze had increased to 20 knots. The Ford was so far astern, however, that it seemed she had little chance of winning. The Bluenose had covered about half the distance to the fourth mark when she tacked to starboard.

At 2:15 the Bluenose was well ahead of the Ford and was within five miles of the fourth mark. The Bluenose held the starboard tack for 10 minutes and then being well to weather of the Ford and luffed again to port. She took in her jib topsail, which put the two boats on the same canvas—four lowers and a main topsail. The Ford held to the port tack for a long board off-shore.

At 2:30 o'clock the boats were within four miles of the fourth mark and working up to it gradually. The Bluenose was ahead and had the race well in hand.

The wind was blowing 20 knots and giving them plenty of headway. The Ford barely held the Bluenose after the last—had shortened sail. Capt. Walters was taking no chances and placed his boat well to windward of the Ford.

Both boats tacked to catch the mark on the inshore tack. The Bluenose tacked around the mark at 3:24:40 and headed for the finish, five miles away. The Ford was about a mile to leeward when the Bluenose turned.

ALL REMOVALS IN BAD FAITH

Judge DeCourcy so Rules in Decision on Lowell Mandamus Case

Other Opinion Says Charter Petition Correctly Certified and Filed

In his decision on the Lowell mandamus case, brought by Mayor George H. Brown, in which the latter sought to keep the Plan B charter question off the state ballot, Judge DeCourcy ruled that the petition was properly certified and properly filed, and in allowing the writ of the election commission, which sought legal recognition, the justice ruled that not only the first, but also the three subsequent removals of the board by the mayor were actuated by bad faith.

While no copies of the two texts have been received by counsel involved, Attorney Albert S. Howard took occasion to glance over both opinions while in Boston yesterday. The justice of each decision is in its extreme brevity. Mr. Howard said today, and added that the court in denying the mayor's writ and granting the petition of the election commission had ruled in line with every argument put forward by counsel for the commission.

IS CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

The trial of Martin Walsh, Camp Devens soldier, who was recently freed of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of four-year-old Robert Bradley in Bell Grove, took up the entire afternoon session of the district court with Judge Enright on the bench. Walsh was on trial facing a complaint charging him with operating an auto so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. A number of witnesses were called on both sides. At a late hour the government had not finished its side of the case.

Following the death of the Bradley child, who died shortly after being struck by an auto which Walsh was driving an inquest was held. Associate Justice John J. McKenna presided over the inquest, dismissed the manslaughter complaint but found probable cause for the holding of the trial now in progress.

Leading Lowell real estate operators are to hold an important business meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 1, the next regular meeting day for local brokers, handiers and salesmen of real estate in this vicinity.

At the next meeting at Page's, following luncheon and discussion of current business data and progress, plans for strengthening the local laws for an organized campaign to have the state legislature enact rigid laws at its next session requiring all brokers and salesmen handling real estate transactions to be licensed, will be formulated. The movement already has strong backing in many local real estate firms.

Licenses for real estate brokers and salesmen is a burning question that is being discussed in Lowell and all other Bay State realty circles this fall. It is

IDENTIFIES MAN WHO SHOT HALL

Mrs. Gibson, Eye-Witness to Murder of Rector and Mrs. Mills, Talks

Says She Identified Man Who Fired Shots and Woman Companion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman farmer, who claims to have witnessed the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, today told a newspaperman that she had identified the man who she says shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman who she asserts was with the murderer.

Mrs. Gibson, who it was learned yesterday had told the authorities the name of the murderer's companion, said today that she had once met her at a rummage sale, and instantly had recognized her at the scene of the murder on Phillips farm. She added that she had seen her since the double killing and was sure of her recognition.

Judge Mott, the new special state prosecutor, came to New Brunswick today and summoned every principal in the case to the court house so that he might personally hear their stories.

Mrs. Gibson fixed the time of the shooting at 2:30 p. m. She said the man from New Brunswick to Millstone passed her door about 9:11 and that she started out to follow the corn thresher just after the bus went by.

Her story fits in with that of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tingle, who live on Easton avenue, not far from De Brussy lane. Mrs. Tingle has declared that on the night of the shooting she called her husband's attention to a man who she saw.

He looked at his watch at 11:30. At that time, Mrs. Tingle said, and it was 1:30. A few minutes later, both report, they heard shots in the direction of the Phillips farm cannery area.

Mrs. Tingle said that she recalled the night because when she saw the shooting star, she said to her husband: "That means death."

ASK U. S. TO PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE AT LAUSANNE

France, Italy and Great Britain Agree to Send Invitation to U. S.—Decision Reached After Week's Discussion—
Suggestion to Invite U. S. Came From Lord Curzon

PARIS, Oct. 26 (by the Associated Press).—France, Italy and Great Britain have agreed to invite the United States to participate officially in the Near East conference at Lausanne, Switzerland, Nov. 13.

This decision was reached after a week's discussion of the form of the invitation to be issued to the conference. The suggestion to ask the United States to participate officially came from Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs. The invitation will be handed to the state department in Washington probably tomorrow by the French, British and Italian embassies.

Eleven invitations will be issued in all—to the United States, Turkey, Greece, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Yugoslavia and Rumania—for the peace conference, and to the Soviet Russian and Bulgarian governments to take part in the discussion of the question of the Dardanelles.

The invitations will be presented at the different capitals by the diplomatic representatives of all the three inviting powers, France, Great Britain and Italy, probably tomorrow, except in the case of the United States.

Another Greek Officer Arrested
ATHENS, Oct. 26.—General Strategos is the latest addition to the roster of Greek statesmen and soldiers who are confined to jail. His arrest yesterday followed the publication of the revolutionary committee's decree establishing a tribunal to try political and military prisoners in connection with Greek forces in Asia Minor.

At the same time, three civil leaders were arrested, George P. Baltazas, former foreign minister; M. Stais, once minister of the interior, and M. Bozikis, former governor of Thrace.

For Probe of Death of King Alexander

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—A sensation has been created by the demand of the newspaper Vima for a scientific inquiry into the cause of the death of King Alexander of Greece, who died two years ago after a monkey had bitten him. The newspaper intimates the possibility that there was criminal negligence. What it particularly wants to know is how the accident became irreparable.

CARDINAL CONFIRMS FINED $50 FOR BITING NOSE

Sacrament of Confirmation Administered at St. Peter's by Cardinal O'Connell

Over 400 girls and boys of St. Peter's parish, one of the largest churches of recent years, received the sacrament of confirmation, administered by His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, in St. Peter's church this morning. The cardinal motored from Boston to Lowell, arriving here shortly before 11 o'clock, and immediately prepared for the ceremony. At 11 o'clock mass was celebrated by Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., with many parents, relatives and friends of the young children in attendance. The candidates for reception occupied seats in the main aisle of the church, the girls attractively attired in white dresses with veils to match, and the boys in dark blue suits.

The sponsors were Mr. James Corbett for the boys and Miss Elizabeth O'Connell for the girls. At the conclusion of the mass, the cardinal, assisted by Rev. Francis J. Shea and Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, of St. Peter's church, administered the sacrament. Rev. Peter T. Liffman acted as master of ceremonies, while Rev. John M. Manion had charge of the candidates. Cardinal O'Connell remained at St. Peter's rectory a short while this afternoon as the guest of the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D.

"HONEY FITZ" IN LOWELL ON CAMPAIGN TOUR

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, democratic candidate for governor, struck Lowell this noon on his whirlwind tour of the state, which before it concludes next week will have taken him almost the entire length and breadth of the commonwealth. He seeks to serve as chief executive.

Mr. Fitzgerald spoke twice in the city, first at the old familiar campaigning ground at Bridge and Paige sts. at 12:30 o'clock, and later from the steps of city hall. His program called for three mill gate gatherings, but a blizzard day and a desire to conserve his voice and energy as much as possible.

MANIFESTO BY BONAR LAW

Says Party if Returned to Power to Make Good Anglo-Irish Treaty

Will Give Whole-Hearted Support to League and Fulfill Obligations Abroad

LONDON, Oct. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—Andrew Bonar Law, as leader of the unionist party, in a manifesto issued this afternoon, declared one of the tasks of that party, if it is returned to power, will be to make good the Anglo-Irish treaty both in letter and spirit and to co-operate with the Irish government.

The manifesto declares it will be the government's earnest aim, if returned, to give whole-hearted and practical support to the League of Nations, to fulfill the obligations Great Britain has undertaken abroad but not to extend her commitments, but preferably to curtail them, and to maintain friendship and good understanding with the United States.

Mr. Bonar Law in the manifesto said it was the unionist party's purpose, if the self-governing dominions approved, to summon an economic conference in an effort to discover how the vast trade which the resources of the empire made possible could best be developed by mutual co-operation.

ACCEPTS POSITION HERE

John Gilmore, former overseer of the twinning department of the Katana mills of Lawrence, has accepted a similar position at the International cotton mills of this city. Upon severing his connections with the Lawrence mills a few days ago he was presented a travelling bag and a bag pack by his fellow employees.

Dollar Game Tickets Go Like Hot Cakes

Word of the Ad club committee for a thousand more. Competition is keen for the $5 dollar game offered by the Marlon Studio to the student selling the most tickets and on present indications nearer 6000 tickets will be disposed of than the 5000 total which was the tentative goal set.

One hundred and fifty attractive posters, advertising the game, are being placed in prominent places all over the city and merchants have shown a willingness to co-operate in every way. A batch of tickets has been placed at the Y.M.C.A. where persons may purchase them at any time between now and a week from Saturday.

The Rotary club has endorsed the drive and will lend it every moral and financial support possible.

ROBINSON—The funeral of Alfred Robinson, a former prominent marketman of this city, who died recently at his home in Milford, N. H., took place yesterday morning at his home, 48 Amherst street, services being conducted by Rev. G. Homer Lane. At the close of the service the body was brought to this city and in the afternoon services were conducted at the home of a daughter of deceased, Mrs. Roy E. Perkins, 278 Pine street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Mr. Lane and Rev. Richard M. Peters, the latter pastor of the Highland Congregational church of the city. The bearers were Clarence Langdon, Alanson Gray, Charles Wing and Leon Haynes. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Lane and Rev. Mr. Peters.

BLANCHETTE—The funeral of Mrs. Achille Blanchette, nee Leopoldine Greiner, took place this morning from her home, 301 Merrimack street, and was largely attended. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 8 o'clock by Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Charles Benoit, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. L. G. Bacland, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Rodolphe E. Pepin, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mrs. Marie Jacques, Mrs. Marie Bowers, Miss Anna Martel and Wilfrid Jacques. The bearers were Auguste, Omer, Norbert, Alfred, Philippe and Ludoviste Blanchette. There were many floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

POSHY—The funeral of Joseph Vito Poshy took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, Princeton street, North Chelmsford. The cortege proceeded to St. John's church where a funeral high mass was sung by Rev. Emile Dupont. The choir, under the direction of Miss Anna Curry sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary McPartland, Miss Curry presiding at the organ. The bearers were John and James E. Poshy, Raymond Menzies and Lee. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Lawrence, Mass., under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

STATE TO REST IN MRS. ROSIER'S TRIAL

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The commonwealth announced that it would rest its case today in the trial of Mrs. Catherine Rosier, unless an unexpected development came up. She is charged with the murder of her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his stenographer, Miss Mildred Geraldine Reckitt, and is being tried first for the slaying of the latter.

view avenue, from Bridge to Coburn. All other have been completed or will be within a fortnight.

In addition the department has paved Andover street hill, from Fayette to High streets; the Memorial Auditorium driveways and Moore street, from Gorham to Blechnery streets.

A splendid roadway of reinforced cement concrete has been built in Manchester street and on one side of Westford street from Windsor street to the end of the car line. The other side will be so paved as far as Foster street this year and completed next summer.

The 1923 block paving program is interesting at this time, as in a sense it will be a continuance of the progress made this year. It follows:

Lakewood avenue, from Coburn to West street; Chelmsford street, from Lincoln square to Plain street; Moody street, from Dutton to Tilden; Branch street at Coral street; Mammoth road, from Pawtucket square to Fourth avenue, and Fletcher street, from Liberty square to Broadway.

At a latter date a complete program of the work accomplished this year will be released from the office of the city engineer. In addition to block paving it will include, patching, grading, edging, sheet asphalt and asphaltic concrete.

Schooners in Final Race

burg, N. S., each with one accredited race in the international sailing vessel championship competition had a light wind from the westward for their decisive contest today.

The crew of the Bluenose and her skipper, Angus Walters, flushed with their success yesterday in the smashing 40 mile scrap with the Henry Ford, were in high spirits, although whistling for more wind which would bring out what they said were the best qualities of their boat. Captain Clayton Morrissey brought the men of the Henry Ford together on the deck before they started to hoist sail and said they were going out to do the best that was in them and hopeful that their best would be good enough to win.

The Gloucester skipper, taking nothing away from the Bluenose's victory yesterday nevertheless said that he wished he had a whole mainsheet to work with instead of the mangled one, cut down by official interpretations of rules with which the Gloucester man's skipper and designer differed.

The Lunenburgers were early astir today with intention of hauling their schooner out on the marine railway for examination. But it was found that the tide would not entirely serve to bring her back into the water in time to start the race and a sweep of the keel with chains indicated that nothing was amiss. Since standing three days ago Captain Walters has feared that the vessel's shoe was strained.

The Canadian contingent regarded as a favorable omen the assignment as official boat again today of their destroyer Patriot. It was Lieut. Commander Jones, her captain, who sounded the gun that marked the Bluenose's victory. In the two previous races the first of which had no gun at the finish because the Henry Ford's victory was not officially recognized, the American destroyer Paulding was the official boat.

The race today was scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. The possibility of a windward and leeward course being ordered instead of a triangular one as in the three previous races, was considered.

Canadian adherents today questioned whether Captain Morrissey's schooner had the right of way at the start yesterday when, had he not hauled up, it appeared that collision between the schooners was inevitable. Captain John J. Matheson, mate of the Henry Ford, declared there was no question of it, that all the elements of the right of way were with the Gloucesterman and that only Captain Morrissey's wish not to sacrifice ship and men, saved the racers and possibly their lives.

Boston Men at White House Urge Purchase of Canal— Favor Ship Subsidy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Harding was told that New England is a unit in support of the Ship Subsidy bill for the encouragement of the American Merchant Marine, when E. S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Association of the Boston chamber of commerce, and Judge Elderly E. Clark, counsel for the association, called at the White House yesterday.

The New England situation was discussed generally at the conference, and it is understood that the president expressed sympathetic interest in the problems of that section of the country.

It was urged to give his backing to the purchase by the government of the Cape Cod Ship Canal, along with the Ship Subsidy measure. Both measures are regarded as part of the center point to bring back to New England ports much of the ocean-going commerce which they formerly possessed. The purchase of the canal and its widening and deepening will be of tremendous service, both commercially and from the standpoint of safeguarding life and property. It was pointed out to the president.

The Lodge bill for ratification of the purchase was added by the senate as an amendment to the Rivers and Harbors bill at the last session of congress, but was struck out by conference because the house would not agree to it. The Winslow bill providing for the purchase has been reported to the house, but is still awaiting action.

That the president is in earnest in regard to the Ship Subsidy bill was made clear to Mr. Davis and Judge Clark. It is understood he will continue to give the measure his backing, and that congress will be called in special session about Nov. 20 to begin consideration of the bill.

CONDUCTED SALE AND ENTERTAINMENT

A successful sale and entertainment was conducted yesterday afternoon and evening at the parish rooms of the Central M.E. church of this city under the auspices of the women of Christ mission of Newwood, Decatur. The sale was started in the afternoon and continued until late in the evening, and those in charge report a brisk business. In the evening the following program was given: Songs, Mrs. Besse Porter; piano solos, Mrs. Earle L. Huse; readings and character songs, Fred Thompson; selections by an orchestra composed of Mrs. Huse, pianist, Elmer McIntosh and Earle Huse, banjos, and W. Vernon Huse, violinist. Rev. Leslie C. Hoekes of the Central M.E. church and Rev. Ampleton Grant of St. Anne's church were present and spoke a few words in appreciation of the work of the mission. Rev. John J. Callan, curate of St. Anne's, was also a guest of the evening.

The general committee in charge consisted as follows: Mrs. W. D. Hayward, Mrs. A. B. Reed, Mrs. Thomas Curry, Mrs. G. S. Converse and Mrs. Lavina Hamer.

DRY AND WET DEBATE

HELD AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—A joint debate was held last night at the Worcester hall on the referendum on the State Volstead law between E. G. R. Gordon, of Haverhill, representing the Constitutional Liberty League, in opposition to the act, and Boyd A. Doty of Boston, New England counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, in favor of its referendum. The hall was filled to its capacity of 700 and several hundred more persons were unable to get within hearing of the speakers.

Mayor Peter F. Sullivan presided. Mr. Gordon opened and closed the debate. In opposition to the State Volstead law, Mr. Gordon contended that it is a violation of personal, constitutional liberty to pass such a law. He claimed that bootlegging and other illegal selling is rampant, the consumption of liquor is not diminished, and the state is losing much revenue which it formerly had from the taxes collected from the licensed liquor business.

Mr. Doty declared that the supreme court of the United States two years ago established the constitutional and legal right of the government to regulate and prohibit the sale of liquor. He said violations of all laws are constantly committed, yet, with the exception of liquor laws, no citizen is heard that, because of the violations the laws should be repealed. He said that the state is losing much revenue by bootleggers and others in violation of the law which will stop it.

Mr. Doty quoted figures to show that gains in bank deposits since prohibition refute the argument that prohibition entails financial loss to the commonwealth and its people.

ENTERTAINMENT BY GIRLS' SOCIETIES

A supper and entertainment was held last night in the First Baptist church by three of the girls' societies. Each of the clubs, the Live Wires, the Delta Alphas and the Widenwakes had its table at the supper which was held at 6:30 under the direction of Mrs. Mattie Fazio, who was assisted by Mrs. Amadon, Gertrude Brown, Dorothy Adams and Myrtle Walker. During the supper Mrs. Emily Beale entertained with piano selections which were greatly appreciated. An entertainment followed in which all three clubs furnished entertainers.

NEW ENGLAND BROWN BREAD

By Bertha E. Shandling, Of Columbus University.

2 cups cranberry flour
1 cup corn meal
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 cup molasses
2 cups of sour milk

Mix together flour, meal, salt and soda. Add molasses and sour milk and when mixed thoroughly two minutes. Turn into a greased mold and steam three to five hours.

Rye flour may be substituted for one cup of the Graham flour.

Water (dikevart) may be used in place of sour milk. If this is done use one and one-half teaspoons soda in place of two as above.

If very dark brown bread is desired steam eight or 10 hours. This will make three loaves if steamed in one-pound baking powder tins. If rye flour is desired add one cup to the recipe given and use a little less molasses.

INDIGESTION DUE TO WEAK NERVES

Mahie Woman Describes Nervous Trembling in Her Stomach After Eating

There is a form of stomach trouble in which there is no organic disease, but in which the digestion is disturbed because of the weakness of the nerves that control it. This is known as nervous dyspepsia and is remedied by toning up the entire nervous system.

A severe shock, grief, or prolonged worry will affect these nerves so that the process of digestion is retarded, gas forms and often presses on the heart causing pains in that region, and sour risings in the throat are frequent.

Mrs. Mary Viney, of No. 25 Brattle street, Portland, Me., was in an extremely nervous condition for two years. "At times," she says, "I would tremble all over and could not hold anything steady in my hands. After eating I had a nervous trembling in my stomach. I had sour stomach and nausea. I was dizzy a great deal and did not know what a good night's rest was. My circulation was so poor that I was cold on the hottest day."

"After trying other medicines without benefit I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them a week I was better. The trembling sensations went away. The improvement continued and I had no more indigestion and heartburn. I can eat a good meal now without distress afterward. My circulation is good and I no longer have dizzy spells. I cannot say too much for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves. They correct nervous dyspepsia because they revitalize the nerves that control the digestive process. They are also useful in sick and nervous headache, neuralgia, sciatica and neuritis.

Get a 60-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your own druggist today and write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."—Adv.

NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED

The regular meeting of Lowell lodge, 515, L.O.O.F.M., was held last evening in Odd Fellows' building, Middlesex street, with Dictator Edward St. Lager in the chair. Eight new members were admitted into the lodge and several applications for membership were received. It was announced that a big class initiation will be held on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 26, and that a joint entertainment under the auspices of the lodges of the Merrimack valley will be held at Lawrence Friday evening, Nov. 10.

CHURCH SUPPER

Mrs. V. E. Osburne was in charge of the supper held last night in the Immanuel Baptist church in Blossom street. The following young women had charge of the tables: Ruth MacLean, Annie McQueen, Edith Kenney, Violet MacLean, Rose Pauly, Anna Southwick, Grete Osburne and Annette MacLean.

"WRONG IMPRESSION"

Given Important Historical Facts by F. D. Lane, Says Ex-Sec. Daniels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Declaring a "wholly wrong impression" of important historical facts had been given in one of the recently published letters of Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior under President Wilson, Josephus Daniels, who sat in the Wilson cabinet as secretary of the navy, telegraphed the Associated Press last night a story of the events which he said led up to the adoption of the convoy system of protecting American ships early in 1917.

Mr. Daniels' message, made particularly reference to a statement in one of the late letters saying that at a cabinet meeting on Feb. 25, 1917, "Daniels said we must not convey—that it would be dangerous." The letter also attributed to President Wilson a suggestion that "this country was not willing that we should take any risks of war."

"Fortunately, I kept a diary in those days," said Mr. Daniels' telegram. "Here is exactly what happened at that cabinet meeting in February, before we had entered the war; President Wilson turned to me and asked, 'Daniels, why have the British not convoyed their ships?'"

"In reply I informed him that the policy of the British admiralty was against the convoy, that the merchant captains regarded it more dangerous in U-boat zones to sail in company under convoy than for each

REPUBLICAN ROW IN CONNECTICUT

HARTFORD, Oct. 25.—Republican ranks in this state are stirred over the alleged failure of the party leaders to invite Gov. Brewster J. Lake to a seat on the platform at the rally in Post Guard hall, Tuesday evening, at which Vice-President Coolidge spoke.

It is said that no recognition was accorded the governor, although a large number of party leaders were invited to seats on the platform, and that Mr. Lake was forced to attend as a private citizen and sit in the gallery.

No plans were made for a meeting between Gov. Lake and the vice-president. When Mr. Coolidge arrived in Hartford he immediately expressed a desire to pay his respects to the governor, and a telephone message was sent to the state capital, but the governor had left for the day. Mr. Coolidge at once arranged to be taken to Gov. Lake's home, but on his arrival there, found him out. It happened that the governor was at the Hotel Bond, expecting to find Mr. Coolidge there. Finally the chase was given up, but the two men met at Post Guard hall later.

It is said that the governor has not been invited to address a single rally in the state.

Gov. Lake was asked yesterday: "Do you not consider it an affront to the office of the governor not to be invited to a seat on the platform when the vice-president of the United States is addressing a meeting in the capitol, your own home city?"

"Personally, I have taken no offense," was his only reply.

A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

You Wouldn't Knowingly Take Poison

Yet headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion and insomnia are usually only Nature's warning that you're constantly absorbing into your system poisons that should be eliminated by liver, kidneys, and bowels.

In SANALT the Sensible Tonic, you have a simple, harmless way of ridding yourself of these poisons, cleansing, and purifying your blood, stimulating secretory and excretory organs to normal action and regaining your "pep" and the joy and bloom of health.

In the more than 100 years that have passed since an old New England doctor originated the formula for this simple rebuilding tonic, SANALT has helped thousands of people just as it has helped Mrs. Carl Adams, of 456 Main St., Gardner, Mass. Here is her letter:

"I had been suffering terribly from nervousness for more than eight months. It was caused by bad condition of my stomach, which came so gradually that almost before I realized it I was suffering from intense headaches and spells of dizziness that were simply terrible. My kidneys and liver were both badly affected and I suffered intensely from backache. I have not yet finished my first bottle of Sanalt, but it has wonderfully improved my condition. The nervousness has almost gone, my stomach has been greatly helped, kidneys and liver are acting much better, and already I am convinced that Sanalt is true to name as 'Sanalt the Sensible Tonic.' I purchased Sanalt through the recommendation of Druggist Leathe, of Gardner, who said that if I was not satisfied with results he would return my money."

SANALT is safe for anyone to take. Contains no opiates, narcotics, or other harmful drugs. Like all the other famous Winsol remedies it can be bought at any drug store, for Winsol preparations are one line of trade-marked proprietary medicines sold by both Winsol Agents and non-agent druggists. No need to accept substitutes. If your druggist doesn't carry SANALT he can get it for you through his jobber.

NEUROPATHIC DROPS, the great emergency medicine, and CERIZANE BALSAM, for coughs, are two Winsol remedies that should be kept in every home. Ask your druggist about them.

B. O. & G. C. WILSON, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

B. O. & G. C. Wilson, Inc., established in 1845, is conducted on a unique profit-sharing plan which benefits everybody concerned—the Winsol Agent, all non-agent druggists, every Winsol employee and the general public. The Winsol Plan—the last word in co-operation—is responsible for the rapid growth of the Winsol business to a position as one of the largest and most successful drug specialty houses in the country today.

The Irish Regiment Band

Lieut. J. Andrew Wiggins, director of music of the Irish Regiment band, which includes a concert in this city at the Memorial Auditorium Oct. 30, afternoon and evening. In its history, has created in this famous military-musical organization not only an institution for Irish music, but an organization which is liberally bedecked with military honors won by its members during the recent World war. Lieut. Wiggins, since the war, has devoted his best efforts to making the Irish Regiment band the leading Celtic music organization of the world, and already its fame is international.

Lieut. Wiggins' attitude towards his art and his direction in that of the distinguished, intelligent musician, who disdains to attract attention personally as a conductor, preferring to get his effects from the players by graceful and characteristic gestures of hand, arm or baton, rather than by spectacular posing which takes away the picture he desires the music alone to make. His conception of his part as a musical interpreter gives peculiar freshness and depth to the work of his band. As a conductor he has few equals, his leading is singularly firm and sympathetic, and is followed with unflinching precision and quickness of response by his players. The men of his band know the story of the works they are playing, and are taught to use their imagination, so that the whole ensemble is bound to be intelligently artistic, and not the splashing of color found in the ultra-impressionist school. Lieut. Wiggins has also great regard for symmetry in his programs, and is very careful that they contain certain numbers that will prove popular not alone to experts, but also to the mass of the public.

Radiographs

TEACHING, PREACHING, BANKING BY RADIO

Universities, churches, banks and public utilities are some of the organizations that have obtained licenses to broadcast their programs to radio listeners.

Out of nearly 350 broadcasting stations in the United States and Canada a survey shows more than half are being conducted by radio manufacturers, dealers or others interested financially in wireless. There are 49 private individuals who have obtained broadcasting licenses, and most of these may also be included among those having some financial interest in the science.

In other fields newspapers excel in the use of radio for broadcasting. At last reports there were 14 newspaper broadcasting stations in the United States and 11 in Canada.

Universities

Six cities have their own broadcasting apparatus. Twenty-one universities have already entered this field and more have applied for licenses. In the same category are three churches and one Bible institute, three banks and eight music, jewelry and watch firms.

Interest, however, lies in the unique. A physician in Louisville, Ky., is conducting a broadcasting station. Among others throughout the country, are also one amusement company, a yacht club, an automobile club, a plumbing and heating concern, a farm machine company and a milling firm.

Public Radio

The Seattle public market is conducting a similar station in conjunction with the city's department stores. The United States army has three public broadcasting stations. They are at McCook Field, Dayton, O., at Fairchild, O., and New York City.

To help housewives buy wisely and economically, the Missouri State Marketing Bureau has opened a broadcasting service out of Jefferson City. Entertainment also is provided from this station.

In Canada the Canadian National Railways has erected a station for the dissemination of news and entertainment to radio fans. It is located at Toronto. Another source of such service, outside of the purely business sources, is that of the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., at Iroquois Falls.

IT'S PRACTICAL, THOUGH TINY

Heretofore "smallest" radio sets have been made merely for the fun of it. But here's one that's being distributed for sale throughout the country. Robert Scott's 8-year-old radio fan, is now holding it alongside a 50-watt transmitting tube for comparison. He's exhibiting the set at the New York radio fair.

BLACK AND WHITE
A fashion novelty is a short jacket of white material trimmed with fall-lace ermine, worn with a smartly draped skirt of black velvet.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE
In Egypt a man never sees the face of the woman he marries until after the wedding ceremony. She is always heavily veiled and very seldom appears outside her home.
Often the man entrusts his choice of a wife to another, who conducts matrimonial negotiations for a price. There are women who make a profession of matchmaking.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Where is the best flour used?

Yesterday's Question: What gives it that rich flavor?

The Answer: There is no single reason for Bond Bread's deliciousness. It is largely due to the ingredients—best flour, purest lard, fresh yeast, granulated sugar, sweet milk and table salt, as listed and guaranteed by our Bond printed on each wrapper.

WILL DEBATE THE PROHIBITION QUESTION

The final debate in the series between speakers chosen by the Anti-Saloon league and the Constitutional Liberty league on prohibition referendum question No. 4 will be held in Liberty hall, this city, on Monday evening, the night before election, when Lloyd P. Day of Boston, counsel for the world league against alcoholism, will speak in behalf of the enforcement act, and Rep. Franklin D. Sawyer of Ware will speak for the "wets." While personalities are supposed to be banned in the debate, which is on the adoption of the state act to enforce the 18th amendment to the constitution, the two debaters have taken such widely differing attitudes toward the law that there will be a real contest and no inimitable battle. Admission is free to the public.

MEETING OF YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION

There was a large attendance at last evening's regular meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew association, which was held at the Hebrew school. Plans for a dance in the near future were discussed, and the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the event: M. Brown, N. Cohen and H. Freedman. Under the sports program, Abe Ratchell was elected captain of the basketball team, and George Bloom will be manager. An athletic committee, composed of G. Bloom, H. Kaplan and M. Freedman, was the concluding item of business on the evening's program.

CLEAR AS A BELL

The Peerless Queen Anne

The Queen Anne Sonora is a master-work. Like the great creative artists of the world, Sonora experts have concentrated on the soul of the phonograph. That soul is its tone, endlessly developed and perfected in the Sonora by subtle refinements through which the dead record is transformed into warm, life-like, pulsating sound.

By means of scientific experiments in the free use of wood—Nature's truest resonator—Sonora artisans have eliminated the shrill, harsh, nasal sounds long associated with most phonographs. The all-wood, laminated horn, made of from five to fifteen thick, cross-banded veneers, makes the Sonora rendition often more flawless than the original.

PRIMA DONNA DENIES HUSBAND'S CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Superior court records here today revealed the first legal skirmish in the divorce action instituted by Floyd Glatzback, chauffeur, against his wife, Madame Margaret Matzenauer, prima donna. Madame Matzenauer, who is appearing here in concert, filed a deposition denying her husband's charges of infidelity. The divorce trial has been set for Nov. 14. Glatzback was said to have manifested too great interest.

To substantiate her charges, attorneys produced a letter which had been intercepted by Madame Matzenauer. In which the Carmel woman upbraided Glatzback for making her suffer and threatened to reveal an intimate relationship. The letter ended with the statement: "Never mind, she will know your life history."

The deposition was heard in chambers yesterday. The divorce trial has been set for Nov. 14. Glatzback was said to have manifested too great interest.

The five states of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana possess more than one-half of all the standing timber in the United States.

MUSICAL COMEDY BY GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The members of the Girls' City Club are again busily engaged in arranging for the musical comedy, "Kathleen" which, from present indications promises to surpass the great success, "Springtime," presented to large audiences at the Opera House last year. The demand for a play, similar in character and of equally high merits as that of last season, has been so insistent that club officials have undertaken the tremendous task of securing 250 men, women and girls for a new play. The cast will be selected from among the best singers and dancers in the city. Many of the trained aesthetic dancers of the high school have expressed a desire to take part and afternoon sessions are being arranged for them by Miss Alice Sullivan, secretary of the club. These and all others who are interested in taking part should meet Miss Sullivan in the club rooms, Howe building, before tonight. "Kathleen" represents a romance in a Massachusetts town and will be produced by the Rogers Producing company. The Opera House has again been secured for the presentation and Nov. 17 and 18 will be the dates. Tickets will go on sale in the near future.

JUNIOR CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

Members of the Junior Christian Endeavor society of the Lawrence Street P. M. church scored heavily last evening in presenting a three-act play, "Crown Up Belknap." The cast was well selected and a large audience enjoyed the production. Excellent readings were contributed by Miss Genevieve Young, baritone solos by Herbert Ashton and piano solos by Miss Irene Gillet. The Junior orchestra played. The cast of characters in the play included Dorothy Mollins, Gladys Morris, Edith Garside, Marjorie Neville, Gladys Fletcher, Everett Fryer, Royal Phil, George Dorey, Herbert Barber and Helen Bjorkman. The orchestra whose work was highly appreciated were Sheldon Judd, Miss Katherine Gracoe, Miss Irene Gillet and Miss Doris Wilde.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

It is expected that the general meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni, which will be held this evening in the assembly hall of the school in Martin street, will be largely attended, for one of the members of the organization, Mr. Leo G. Morin, a prominent mail carrier, will deliver a lecture on his voyage to Europe and Asia last summer. In addition to the lecture there will be entertainment numbers and business of importance will be brought to the attention of the meeting. President Joseph F. Montminy will occupy the chair.

BRIEF MENTION ON ACTION BY DAIL

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The political event of the day which received the least attention in the English press, was the adoption yesterday by the Daily Express of the new Irish constitution. This was dismissed by London newspapers with obscure and brief passages.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids.

(Jellied Cranberries)
Punch or crush each berry of 1 1/2 pounds ripe Cranberries with the fingers so that they "pop" or open up. If too hard or green in open in this manner, slit part way with knife. Use ripest red berries to get best flavor. Measure 4 level cups (1 1/2 lbs.) sugar in 2 cups of water. Then add the broken berries. Bring slowly to a boil and then boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in one bottle (8 cent cup) of Certo (has it poured out in cup ready to use). Stir and at once pour into molds or glasses.

Grape Jelly

Measure 7/2 level cups (1 1/2 lbs.) sugar and 4 cups (2 lbs.) juice into large saucepan, stir, and bring to a boil. At once add one bottle (8 cent cup) Certo stirring constantly. Continue to stir and bring again to a hard boil for one minute stirring constantly. Remove from fire, skin and pour quickly.

Certo is a pure fruit product and contains no gelatin or preservative. Certo is used by experts and housewives everywhere. Get a bottle from your grocer with free recipe book or write for extra copies to

DEPRECIATION OF FOREIGN EXCHANGES

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Further depreciation of French and Italian exchanges took place in today's market, both francs and lire being quoted at new low records for the day. French francs sold at 6.55 cents each, as compared with yesterday's high of 7.02 1/2, and Italian lire were quoted at 3.84 1/2 cents as compared with yesterday's high of 4.01 1/2 cents.

Heavy purchases of American dollars with continental funds are responsible in part for the further slump. The new government 4 1/2 per cent bond which recently were more than three times over-subscribed in cash subscriptions at par, sold on the New York stock exchange today at 99.91, the lowest price to date.

A question that leading Lowell operators in real estate have should be studied carefully in order that all may be qualified to pass an opinion when the time comes.

Lowell handlers and brokers in real estate circles are among the foremost in the active campaign now starting to have a law enacted by the legislature at the next session, requiring all brokers and salesmen to secure operating licenses in the future. The Massachusetts Real Estate exchange, which has many members in this vicinity, has been gathering from various sources throughout the country where new real estate license laws are in force or the subject is being discussed, a vast amount of detail highly interesting.

Most of the data thus far received in Lowell takes the affirmative side. So far as members of the Massachusetts exchange have been interviewed by exchange officials, only a small minority are opposed to such a law in this state.

The agitation in favor of licensing real estate brokers and salesmen reached a real "head" night before last at a special meeting of the Massachusetts exchange members in Hotel Bellevue, Boston, as reported in The Sun last evening. At this meeting, several leading local operators were present and voiced approval of the brokers' license proposition. At that meeting also according to a representative of a Lowell concern in attendance, the informal vote taken on the license proposition resulted in 38 ballots favoring the plan and only three members in opposition.

A gathering of local brokers and real estate salesmen was also held this week in the offices of C. W. Johnson & Son on Central street, where plans for the local campaign were arranged and a report received of the activity of co-operation promised in this district.

The agitation in favor of licensing real estate brokers and salesmen is a product of the west and has gradually moved toward the east. New York now has a law which is looked upon as a model and plans are under way to introduce a similar bill in Massachusetts this year.

The New York Law
The salient features of the New York license law, drafted by the New York Real Estate board and now upon the statute books, are as follows:

1. No person other than a licensed broker or salesman may buy, sell, exchange, lease, rent or negotiate loans upon real estate for another and for compensation, officials of courts and public authorities excepted, unless duly licensed. Salesmen of development companies must be licensed as brokers.

2. In actions for commissions, it must be alleged and proved that the plaintiff is a licensed broker.

3. Applications for licenses must be in writing and show business engaged in and residence for past two years.

4. Names and addresses of licensees to be published annually; roster to be furnished free of cost to each licensee.

5. License fees: Cities of first class, brokers $25, salesmen $5. Cities of second class, brokers $10, salesmen $2. Other places, brokers $5, salesmen $1.

6. License and license pocket card to be issued to each licensee.

7. Board to have power to revoke or suspend licenses for violation of license law or conduct other misconduct of licensees, subject to review by certification.

8. Revocation of license of broker suspends his salesman's license until salesman makes new connections.

9. Brokers not to be responsible for acts of salesmen in the absence of guilty knowledge.

10. Splitting of commissions with unlicensed persons prohibited. Salesmen not to act nor to receive compensation from any person but employing broker.

12. Violations of bill to be punished by fines or imprisonment.

Laws in Other States
The above is only a partial summary of some of the main features of the New York set of license laws that a good many real estate operators in Massachusetts rather like. Other states that now have similar laws to protect legitimate operators in real estate are Arizona, California, Idaho, Illinois, Louisiana, Montana, Michigan, New Jersey, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Canada and British Columbia have had similar laws for some years.

New Jersey the law has worked out nicely, operators say. A score of cases were recently heard by the real estate commission, which is satisfied. The cases involved charges of dishonesty, misrepresentation, unworthy conduct, selling of real estate without a license, splitting fees and representing two parties in a transaction without the knowledge of both. Unscrupulous real estate operators can now no longer prey upon New Jersey land and building owners and get away with it under the new brokers' license laws.

Pennsylvania is about to have a new law similar in most respects to the one now operating in New York and New Jersey.

SOVIET SOLDIERS AID IN HUNT FOR AMERICAN

SIMBIRSK, Russia, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press) Soviet soldiers have joined in the search for Philip J. Shield, the American relief worker, who has been missing from his quarters here for 10 days. While the red troops are seeking traces of him along the valley of the Volga, the government authorities are seeking to interest the populace in the hunt for the young American.

His disappearance is being impressed upon the residents by announcements flashed on movie screens here and in nearby cities. These tell of the reward for finding Shield, give a description of him and ask anyone knowing of his recent whereabouts, to volunteer the information. Never before has this method of searching for a missing person been put into effect in Russia. It was done this time at the request of Joseph Taiton, district supervisor of the relief organization at Simbirsk.

CONFERENCE OF FASCISTI IN ROME

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Benito Mussolini, head of the Italian Fascisti, the extreme nationalist organization, has summoned all his chief supporters to a conference today in Rome, according to a despatch to the Central News.

The official organ of the Fascisti in Rome is quoted as declaring: "We are on the eve of an important event." The conference in Rome comes directly upon the heels of the great Fascisti congress at Naples, which closed yesterday.

Naples despatches last night quoted Benito as declaring: "I take a solemn oath that either the government of the country must be given peacefully to the Fascisti, or we will take it by force."

Home Decorators
by Luella Parsons

SO MANY people say: "The front bedroom is light-filled—really we ought to redecorate it right away." Very often, however, they keep putting off the work.

I wish these people knew they could use Muralite and do the walls and ceilings themselves for only a dollar or two a room, without any fuss or odor. It is fun rather than work. How rich and clean the newly Muralized room looks! Your favorite paint store will supply you with Muralite (insist upon MURAL-LITE).

All you need is hot water to mix, and a good wide brush to apply. Put it on over plaster, tightly pasted paper, wall board or painted wall—in any tint or color you want.

Help Comes in Two Minutes—Complete Relief in a Few Weeks

Don't go on hawking yourself sick every morning, it's cruel. It's harmful and it's unnecessary. If after breathing Hyomel, the wonderworker, you are not rid of catarh, you can have your money back.

No stomach dosing—just take the little hard rubber pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit, and pour in a few drops of Hyomel. Breathe it according to directions. In two minutes it will relieve you of that stuffed up feeling. Use it daily and in a few weeks you should be entirely free from catarh.

Breathing Hyomel is a very pleasant and certain way to kill catarh. Remember.

HARVEST SUPPER IN CHURCH VESTRY

The harvest supper of the Central Baptist church society held last evening in the vestry of the church, was well attended, many guests of the society enjoying the good things provided by the active members of the organization. The supper committee, Mrs. Edwin Wilcomb, chairman, included Mrs. Nellie P. Parker, Mrs. H. A. Vickery and Mrs. Ervin E. Smith. Members of the Ellis Men's association were waiters.

After supper a pleasing entertainment was provided, including readings by Miss Eleanor Rols of West Chelmsford; songs by Harry Paschal; piano solos by Miss Edith Blackadar and a two-act farce, entitled "Through Children's Eyes," parts being taken by Ruth Ellis, Howard Thayer, Benjamin Adams and James Ellis. The entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Francis O. Dutton, Mrs. F. P. Wiggin and Mrs. Everett Whitcomb.

OLD THIRTY-THIRD ELECTS OFFICERS

Surviving members of the old Thirty-third Massachusetts Regiment volunteers, after an all-day reunion in Memorial hall yesterday, wound up a long program of good things by electing officers for 1923 as follows: John

J. Ryder of Buzzard's Bay, president; Henry A. Dickson of Fitchburg, vice president; W. T. S. Bartlett of this city, secretary and treasurer. On motion of Mr. Ryder, Mr. Bartlett was made "secretary and treasurer for life." The suggestion meeting with high favor from the two score veterans attending the business meeting.

At the after dinner exercises, Mayor George H. Brown spoke informally, welcoming the veterans to Lowell. It was announced that two members of the association, Peter C. Sears of Chicago and Charles W. Parker of Townsend, had passed away since the last reunion.

Ford Runs 57 Miles on Gallon of Gasoline

A new automatic Vaporizer and De-carbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Ford from 22 to 50 per cent, and at the same time removed every particle of carbon from the cylinders in the proud achievement of John A. Sienkewicz, 1076 South Main street, Pawtucket, South Dakota. A remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without drilling or tapping. With it attached, Ford cars have made from 40 to 57 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Sienkewicz wants to place a few of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is able to handle the business which is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The Lowell High School orchestra, after several weeks of rehearsal, is now prepared for a busy season. The school musicians appeared as a unit, for the first time, at the student assembly about a week ago, and made a great impression on the audience. Frederick O. Blunt, director of music in the public schools, is chief of the orchestra, and under his capable direction, the present season should meet with continued success.

The personnel for this year is as follows: First violins, Misses Champagne, Baxter, Greene, Shaw, Ryan, Mowbray, Leonard, Sullivan, Mucciolo, Mulligan, Conlon, Finberg and Gertrude Mulligan, Masters Altard, Edey, Lazarski, Goldman, Lunkin and Huse, second violins, Tylin, Craig, Bertrand Keefe, Yaffa and Caray; cornets, Masters Roberts, McArthur and Carter; clarinets, Masters Guellotte and Dockett; saxophone, Master Goggin; trombone, Master Robinson; cello, Miss Gorman, Masters Whitworth, Roy and Donohue; piano, Miss Estes; drums, Master Judge.

PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE AT Y. M. C. A.

The Lowell Y.M.C.A. inaugurated its co-operative educational program with Northeastern university last evening when the course in public speaking, outlined by the United Y.M.C.A. schools was opened.

Mr. S. Wheeler of the staff of Northeastern university gave the introductory address. Mr. Wheeler will be the instructor for the course which will hold its first teaching session on Wednesday night at 7:30. Mr. Wheeler said last night that men's fears of appearing in public cost them thousands of dollars each year. He designated the ease with which men could overcome these particular fears and develop into attractive and pleasing public speakers. Gaining self-confidence, power and ability to speak on one's own were some of the first factors in public speaking, said Mr. Wheeler.

Following Mr. Wheeler's address, H. F. Howe, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., gave a brief statement of the educational policy of the association.

ADDRESS BY WORLD WAR AVIATOR

Rev. Stanley High of Boston, a World War aviator, who has recently returned from Europe, last night addressed the Lowell Epworth league at a meeting held in the Centralville M. E. church. His topic was "Europe Vagabond." He mentioned some of his experiences at the University of Berlin and said that the students were most eager among the students and intellectual classes in that city, where the former rich people have very little money nowadays. He said that student bodies have become organized and unionized in order to get their meals cheaper and to have meat at least once a week.

The speaker told of the students of Bombay university, India, who are beginning to look towards Jesus Christ as their student leader and of the great renaissance in China. He said that it was interesting to note that of the five Chinese delegates to the peace conference, four were graduates of American mission schools.

WORK ON PLAYGROUND IN NO. BILLERICA

Bids for the moving of 500 cubic yards of earth and rock, grading, grading and preparing the playground of the Kohlrausch playground in North Billerica, have been called for by the town park commissioners. The work will give the youth of Billerica a baseball field of proper size.

The Kohlrausch playground was given to the town ten years ago by Mrs. J. J. Kohlrausch, widow of Charles H. Kohlrausch, for many years a citizen of Billerica. The tract comprises four acres and already several thousand dollars have been spent in putting it into shape. The proposed improvement has the backing of the townspeople, particularly those living in the North village.

OLD CHATHAM, COLOMBIA CO., N.Y.
"I was bothered with Constipation, Liver Trouble and Indigestion for three years, and tried all kinds of medicine without relief. I was so bad I would have a dull, heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach after eating. I saw 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised and bought two 50c boxes. Before I had finished one box, I was relieved and now have no more trouble. I recommend these Fruit Laxo Tablets."
WM. GALE SHEPHERD.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED BY KING GEORGE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press) King George dissolved parliament today by signing a royal proclamation at a meeting of the privy council at Sandringham. The proclamation will be published in the Official Gazette this afternoon, vacating every parliamentary seat in the country. The proclamation ordered the assembling of the new parliament at Norwich, 26th October.

Thirteen hundred candidates have up to now entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons. Of these about 425 are conservatives. In round numbers labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Aquilarians or free thinkers 300 and the Lloyd Georgean or national liberals 200. The little Welshman who lost his post as prime minister last week, is vigorously striving to increase the number of candidates under his banner.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION
At civil service examinations held recently in Lowell and other New England cities, for computer, code and geodetic survey, and assistant observer in meteorology, weather bureau, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and these examinations will be held again on December 6. Application blanks are supplied at the local post-office.

TRIAL OF I. W. W. MEMBERS
SACRAMENTO, CAL., Oct. 26.—Trial of the members of the Industrial Workers of the World, charged with violating the California criminal syndicate law, which was delayed yesterday because of the illness of Austin D. Lewis, counsel for the defendants, was to be resumed today. The prosecution probably will close the case today.

ACID STOMACH!! MEALS SOUR OR FORM GAS, GAS

Chew a Few Pleasant Tablets Indigestion Gone!

Instant stomach relief! Harmless! The moment "Pape's Diapepsin" reaches the stomach all distress from acid stomach or indigestion ends. Immediate relief from flatulence, gases, heartburn, palpitation, fullness or stomach pressure.

Simple Prescription Gives Instant Relief. Makes Breathing Easy

In New England, where Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis and other diseases of the throat and lungs are so prevalent, remarkably successful results are being reported following the use of a new form of treatment known as Oxidaze, a physiochemical prescription.

Oxidaze is a harmless but powerful combination of curative essential oils concentrated in a compressed into a small tablet. One of these tablets slowly dissolved before going to bed seems to have the effect of releasing the muscular constriction of the bronchial tubes, opening up the air passages and regulating spasmodic lung action. This enables the patient to breathe easily and naturally while lying down and to get a comfortable night's sleep.

So much interest has been shown that local druggists, including Green's drug store, L. J. Galletta and Lowell Pharmacy have secured a small supply and state that they are authorized to refund the money paid for the first package if in any case this new treatment fails to give relief. Oxidaze is pleasant to take, contains no harmful habit-forming drugs and is not expensive. This makes their test an easy matter.—Adv.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those irritating blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the skin and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads makes large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.—Adv.

PEGGY CAFFEY CALLED IN MRS PHILLIPS' TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Peggy Caffey, former chorus girl friend of the defendant, was expected to take the stand today, at the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with having beaten Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Mowdow, 23-year-old widow, to death, with a hammer.

Mrs. Caffey, only known eye-witness to the slaying, gave voluminous testimony before the Los Angeles county grand jury which indicted Mrs. Phillips, and was expected to be on the witness stand both on direct and cross-examination for an extended period.

have been committed. Misto appeared in court carrying a crutch and had a bandage upon his nose. It is said that the trouble was brought about by Misto flaunting in the face of Peter a foreign newspaper which told of the rovers suffered by armies representing Peter's country.

Leonard G. Benner pleaded guilty to carrying a pistol and sentence was continued until Saturday during which time the young man will be examined as to the soundness of his mental condition. He was arrested last night by Officers Cooney and Moore near Humphrey street.

Officer Cooney testified that the man was carrying a revolver and a club. The attention of the officers was called to the young man by a woman who complained that Benner was annoying her and other women in the neighborhood. Officer Cooney asked that the case be continued for a few days as he believed that the young man may be mentally unbalanced.

Akmed's Discretion Good

Mohamed Akmed appeared in court to answer to a charge of illegal keeping. He was in apparently good health despite the fact that he is said to have swallowed a marauder's bill yesterday, thereby destroying evidence liquor officers claim to have obtained. He pleaded not guilty and his case was continued for 10 days. Akmed, who keeps a barber shop in Middlesex st., has been before the court several times for violations of the liquor laws. Members of the liquor squad claim they made a sale, but when the defendant saw them coming he stuffed the bill into his mouth and swallowed it. John E. Anderson was called with Akmed and charged with illegal keeping. His case was postponed also for 10 days.

Stanislav Kilowick was found guilty of illegal keeping and paid a fine of $100. Philip Ziolo was fined $20 for assault and battery upon Frank Liba. Yesterday Liba was in court and fined $25 for assaulting Ziolo's wife. "The case has been hanging fire for two weeks and was the result of a midnight drinking party and argument over a bird cage. In the argument Liba cut Ziolo's wife, for which he paid yesterday. Ziolo then beat up Liba following the assault. The question today was that Ziolo used unnecessary force in his treatment of Liba. This case was tried before Associate Justice John J. Pickman.

George Pavides of Draught was fined $10 for hunting without a license. He paid.

George A. Regan pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sentenced to the house of correction for one month.

David Minskoff of Dorchester was found guilty of operating an auto in Tewksbury without a license in his possession and was fined $5. It was brought out that he had made a hurried trip from Boston and had neglected to bring his license with him.

The officer said that Mrs. O'Grady asked to have her husband arrested. He also stated that when he informed O'Grady of the woman's request he (O'Grady) said that "he would get her for that." The officer stated that Mrs. O'Grady was removed to a hospital in the ambulance following the assault.

O'Grady, whose age was given as 42, appeared to be a big powerful man. In his defense he said that he didn't remember what he had done as he was drunk. He said that the stuff one got nowadays was awful to drink. The court then asked him if he thought that was any kind of an excuse and wanted to know what would have been his attitude if he had killed his wife.

When Mrs. O'Grady attempted to put in a few words in defense of her husband the court said that the case was one in which the community was interested and that the community must be protected.

Following the officer's testimony the court said that the condition of the woman was the best evidence in the world of the assault. Following the sentence O'Grady took an appeal. When the court ordered him to pay a $300 bond he withdrew the appeal. The charge of drunkenness was filed.

Election Board Not Sure About Mayor's Term

Instatement of the officer thus removed.

The present charter gives the mayor the right of removal, but allows the removed person not only to contest it in public hearing and to be represented by counsel, but also provides for reinstatement by a two-thirds vote of the council.

Does Plan B charter mean that an official so removed has no chance of reinstatement? This is a question that fairly may be asked in view of no definite statement concerning it in the charter text or in the amendatory acts.

If an official is removed by the mayor under Plan B, it is probable that he is out for good, for it is not probable that a council that would approve his removal by a majority vote would turn round and restate him by a two-thirds vote. However, there is no word regarding reinstatement in the Plan B skeleton and this may be one of several questions that will need careful interpretation should the new form of charter be accepted on Nov. 7.

LODGE AND HIS FRIENDS

Senator Lodge was the honored guest of the Home Market club at its banquet in Boston on Tuesday evening and was lauded as an "institution." In the bosom of the Home Market club, Mr. Lodge had reason to feel entirely at home. He has no apologies to make to that body, whose object is to support the protective policy and maintain tariff schedules as high as possible.

The Home Market club would bar out all imports, if that were within the scope of its power, and hence it is not at all surprising that the heads of the organization laud Senator Lodge as the high priest of ultra high protection.

But in spite of this attitude of the club, Senator Lodge in his speech of the evening the strongest defense he could make, and that was weak, for the wool schedule, Home industry, home markets, home manufacturers, home everything is set down as dependent upon high tariff protection.

Mr. Lodge dealt with the wool schedule and said it was carried over his head by the interests favoring the high tariff, but in spite of this, he voted for the measure in its entirety. That is characteristic of the senator. He is always compromising principles and policies for political reasons. Had Mr. Lodge fought boldly for his conviction of right and duty during his public career, he could have had the highest office in the gift of the American people; but he stood always ready to compromise because the Home Market club or the republican party or somebody else wanted something different.

Republicans who are defending the high tariff schedules are making many ridiculous statements. Senator Moses of New Hampshire states that but for it we should have none of the luxuries of life nor many of the comforts that we now enjoy. He says the rulers of England in the 16th century did not enjoy comforts equal to those of the common people of this country today. Here we have a man supposed to be intelligent, actually claiming that the progress of civilization during the last six centuries has been due to the protective policy of the republican party. Of course it matters not that the period to which he refers antedates the existence of the republican party by several centuries. If the republican spellbinders can prove that this country is better off than any other; that is due to the tariff; and if the wheels of industry move once more, that, too, we are told, is the effect of the tariff. There is no allowance made for the blessings of freedom, the opportunities for individual initiative or anything of that kind. Around election time these republican leaders seem to think they can crowd any kind of stuff down the people's throats.

Senator Lodge is careful of his statements but the campaigners supporting him are making the most extravagant claims. One of the charges they make is that the democratic party favors free trade. That is untrue. The democratic principle, as it should be the republican, is to impose a tariff covering the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. If the American manufacturer cannot get along with that arrangement which gives him a fair chance in competition, he will have to blame himself to blame. It is well to get down to some business basis on this matter and this is the only just plan of protection.

But the wool growers and the wool manufacturers want a tariff that will keep out all foreign goods so that they can charge what they please for their products. That means profiteering and robbery of the people. That is the kind of tariff that is provided in this new law which Senator Lodge helped to push through congress. It is no wonder that he is eulogized by the Home Market club.

DEFEAT MOVIE CENSORSHIP

We are rather surprised that anybody should favor the censorship of moving pictures since the present law is entirely adequate for the purpose if properly enforced.

Since Will Hays became president of the Motion Picture Producers the tone of the moving picture shows has been greatly improved. In reference to the Massachusetts law of censorship which comes before the people on election day, Mr. Hays says:

Censorship means further invasion of the right of free expression by the people and for the people. It means further restriction of the activities of the people and regulation of those activities. It means the vesting of the power in one man to dictate what people shall see and read. It does not mean better pictures; it means that pictures must suit the likes of one man whatever those likes may be.

The present duties of the commissioner of public safety include the supervision of Fire Prevention, the State Police, and the Division of Fisheries. An official selected for these functions would scarcely be likely to form the judgment of Massachusetts as to what pictures might not be seen by the state.

It means hundreds of thousands of dollars added to the burden of taxation under which the people are staggering. It means the passing on of these taxes to the public in the form of higher prices of admission to the theatre.

Obviously censorship strikes at the root of the principles upon which this government was founded and which are set forth so succinctly in Article 1 of the first amendment to the constitution which says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Massachusetts has now a law of the statute books which specifically provides for the imprisonment and fine of any owner, manager, director, agent or other who prepares, advertises, gives, presents, or participates in any lewd, obscene, indecent, immoral or impure show or entertainment, or in any show or entertainment suggestive of lewdness, obscenity, indecency, immorality or impurity, or in any show or entertainment manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of youth.

WET AND DRY SHIPS

Under the British law, every passenger steamer is required to carry at least one gallon of brandy for every 100 passengers. The steamer President Harding of the United States line was refused clearance at London until she took on board the quantity of brandy prescribed by law. Under the Volstead act, a steamer coming within the three-mile limit with brandy or any other liquor aboard, except for medicinal purposes, is liable to search and seizure.

Presumably the crew would be under the necessity of drinking all the brandy on board before getting within the three-mile limit. But we rather think that this foolishness will be avoided. The United States cannot afford to precipitate an international rupture with any great country on how they observe the prohibition laws on nearing the American coast. They have as much right to enforce their laws on our ships as we have to impose ours on theirs.

TERM FOR MAYOR

Plan B originally prescribed two-year terms for the mayor and also for all the members of the council after the first year. It also provided for annual elections; but this year an amendment was made by the legislature giving the petitioners the right to choose between annual and biennial elections. The petitioners for the adoption of Plan B asked for annual elections; but this does not mean that the term for mayor shall be one year. Had any change of that kind been contemplated, the amendment would have so specified. Therefore, it appears that there is no reason to assume that any change has been made in Section 3 of the original Plan B, which says: "He, the mayor, shall hold office for the term of two years from the first Monday in January following his election and until his successor is elected and qualified."

There will be a part of the council and school committee to be elected each year.

Why should two-year terms be the rule for the council and one-year for the mayor?

REVEALING WILSON

It is hardly the charitable thing to do to bring out the letters or diary of a man deceased, giving his impressions of the president of the United States at cabinet meetings in one of the most important crises in the history of the country. Yet this is what is being done by the widow of the late Franklin Lane, secretary of the interior during the period leading up to and following the World war. Wilson is described as secretive and at times peevish with his official family while dealing with the questions of the World war. Is it at all strange that any man should be temperamentally ruffled in facing one of the most momentous problems in all history? Wilson had his faults, but he conducted the war to a successful finish and won glory for the flag and the country while achieving victory for the allies.

FREIGHT RATES TOO HIGH

Freight rates are still so very high that shippers are obliged to use motor trucks wherever possible in order to reduce the expense and hasten deliveries. The motor truck is much more serviceable than the railroads for short hauls, for the reason that under the present glutted condition of the railroads, it is very difficult to secure prompt delivery of goods at any point. Local builders are in some cases obliged to wait for months for material for building construction. The railroads are falling down hopelessly in their effort to supply transportation service for the business of the country. The rolling stock is in wretched condition as a result of the shopworkmen's strike, yet some of the railroads are still fighting the unions against a settlement of the trouble. The country is now getting a demonstration of the result of republican delay and bumbling in dealing with the coal strike and the railroad strike. They let both run until the winter was at hand.

Secretary of State Cook is sending out a circular to each voter in the state, explaining the ballot and the referendum. In view of the great number of women who will vote this year for the first time, the information contained in the circular will prove very valuable. It should be carefully studied.

A contentarian who died the other day at Bridgeport, N. J., advised everybody to sleep from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. The man who would do that might be chased with the animals that remain in a state of lethargy during the winter. As life keeps these times, the man who can sleep twelve hours a day is not to be envied.

The high school lunch room is spoiling some appetites for dinner after school.

The drive for the high school athletic field should be put over the top with a bound.

The women can decide the main issues involved in the election on November 7.

Kentucky farmer whipped two aviators who landed in his field. His slogan is "Swat the fliers."

Teacher Well Pleased

"Well, my boy," said father, "is the teacher quite satisfied with you?" "Yes, sir," replied the boy, "I did not know so?" "Yes, the other day he said to me: 'If all my pupils were like you I'd close my school today.' That shows I know enough."

Not Living Together

Tom (who has been away) "Did you and that girl to whom you were engaged last summer get married?" Jack: "Yes, but we are not living together."

A Thought

"Before you send your letter, read it over, and hold your speech until your wrath has died."

Great Eyesight

The witness had made several doubtful statements and the cross-examining lawyer was becoming exasperated. "You mean to tell me," he said, "that you saw this man in the dark while you were half a mile away?" "Oh, yes," replied the witness cheerfully. "I can see millions of miles at night."

Correcting Sister

Tommy's mother gave him a book on estate interest of the usual "Robinson Crusoe." It thereafter became a pretty fragment of home life until Tommy's sister, in attempting to leave the room one day, found herself eluded by the hand and hung violently backward into the coal scuttle. "You ignorant little hussy," protested Tommy, "don't you know that a gentleman should open the door for you?"

Too Intelligent

Willie was out riding in his father's lately acquired car. The car didn't work just right, and each time it came to a standstill it happened to be in front of some house. Evidently Willie was thinking of the fact that the peddler owned that house, because he was accustomed to stopping of its own accord in front of every house. "Gee," exclaimed Willie, "this car must think it belongs to a peddler!"

Luckless Preacher

An old Scotchman was told that her minister used notes, but could not believe it. "Said one of the gals in my class," she said, "and saw the written sermon. After the luckless preacher had concluded his reading on the last page he said, 'But I will not enlarge.' The old woman called out from her lofty position: 'Ye canna ye canna, for your paper's giv' out!'"

Dirks and Airmen

William was thirsty for knowledge, and interesting facts shone like jewels in his brain. "I read today," he said to Michael, "of the wonderful progress made in aviation. Men can now do anything—a bird can do!" But Michael was tired of confabulations. He was more matter-of-fact. "What that?" he answered. "Well, when you see an airman fast asleep, hanging on to a branch of a tree with one foot, I'll come and have a look!"

The Future

"Tis well that the future is hid from our sight. That we walk in the sunshine, nor dream of a cloud; We cherish a flower, think not of the blight. And dream of the loom that may weave us a shroud."

It was good, it was kind, in the wise of me above. To fling Destiny's veil o'er the face of our years. So we see not the blow that shall strike at our love. And expect not the beam that shall dry up our tears.

Though the cloud may be dark, there is sunshine beyond it; Though the night may be long, yet the morning is near; Though the valley may be deep, there is music around it. And hope 'mid our sorrow, bright hope is still near. —From the Pathfinder.

SILK HAT HURLEY RETURNS TO VOTE

SALEM, Oct. 26.—Hon. John F. Hurley, Salem's famous silk hat ex-mayor, who will be 78 years old Nov. 15, is coming home to vote at the state election. He will leave the Soldiers' home at Hampton, Va., Nov. 5, and will arrive home the day before election.

The ex-mayor plans to hold another reunion of the 4th Massachusetts Battery, although he and B. Frank Smith of Woburn are the only surviving members of that Civil war organization. This will be "John F.'s" annual visit home.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Are "Velvet No. 1's" never to be dispensed from the stationery and pencil stores in the future? I have been trying to buy a "No. 1" pencil—the soft-leaded variety that writes easily—more than a month in local stores, and I find them fairly among the missing. It has always been a pencil of popular demand in New England newspaper circles. The "No. 2's" and "No. 3's" are made with harder lead and cut through reporters' notebooks and papers and always causes trouble when a scribe has to be hurriedly jettisoned, or notes scribbled in long and short-hand. The hard leads require more work to keep them in condition, too, and no ordinary news-gatherer wants to work any harder than he really has to. Besides, sharpening pencils is not his hobby. I wonder when the "No. 1's" will reappear again on the local market! I cannot get any information from one or two leading pencil marts in this town, and an thinking seriously of writing to the so-called "pencil trust" and find out from headquarters why the "No. 1's" cannot be sold in the Spindle City.

Whenever you hear real news in local horseflesh, you can bank upon it if it comes from the Ryan stables on D street. Local horsemen, whenever they hear D street mentioned, generally think of Arnold J. Ryan, whose fine home and well constructed stables are well known in that district. More than one excellently bred piece of horseflesh has wintered in the Ryan stables where the blankets are of good quality and the feeding regular, morning, noon and night. A man who ventures a good piece of horseflesh—well, you know the answer.

I ran across an old-time Sun newsboy yesterday in Billerica one day last week. You folks who remember the early days of this newspaper, when the important news items of the streets and on the newsstands in small quantities and was eagerly bought by the curious, who wanted to see DOWNES AND ST. HILAIRE MEET TONIGHT

With several new faces in the "line-up" the card for tonight's Moody club show at the Crescent rink looks like a hummer.

The main event Johnny Downes of South Boston, who has battled the line, and who only recently appeared in a sensational 10-round number with Philney Boyle, will meet Joe St. Hilaire of Somersworth, N. H., a "new comer" in local rings, but well known by reputation.

Downes has trained carefully and well in Boston, while St. Hilaire has worked out for more than two weeks with Young Martin Flaherty and others at Wamecet. According to the statements of their managers, both boys are fit for a grueling battle.

If Downes lands on top he will go after Boyle, and the other notable, should St. Hilaire win, he will be in position to demand consideration for any of the lightweights in this vicinity.

In the semi-final Young Flaherty is to meet Denay Grogan, in the preliminary Freddie Jackson of Lawrence will meet Nick McDonough of Lexington and Tony Dalton of Haverhill will exchange punches with George Goslin of Lawrence.

H. S. FRESHMEN TRIM MITCHELL SCHOOL

The freshman football team of the high school played its first game of the season yesterday afternoon, when it defeated the Mitchell school team of Haverhill by the score of 29 to 5. The playing of Birchall, right halfback, Hamlin, at left half, and McCall at quarter featured Lowell's play. The game was a hard fought one, after five minutes of play, Birchall, Hamlin and Ducharme, rushed the ball from mid-field to the goal line and over. McCall scored the second touchdown in the third quarter by a beautiful end run, while the final score came on a long forward pass, McCall to Hamlin, who played the ball behind the barrier for the last score. The lineup:

STATZ SAVED CUBS $10,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Failure of Armin Statz, the outfielder of the Chicago Nationals to keep up his hitting in the last four games of the 1922 season, saved his club $10,000. It was revealed yesterday.

The Chicago club had agreed to pay the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league this amount in addition to cash and players already given for Statz. If the star should finish the season with a batting average of .300 or better, Statz knew nothing of this agreement.

Statz finished the season with an average of .297, according to unofficial figures. Four days before the season closed the little outfielder was traveling along with a mark of .301. In his last four games he made only three hits in 16 times at bat.

"NO GIRLS, NO GAME"

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Fifty young women students at Marshall college here, staged a pajama party in their dormitory last night.

College officials have decided that as punishment the girls would be prohibited from attending the Marshall-West Virginia Wesleyan football game here Saturday.

The gridiron men heard the sad news and held an indignation meeting. They decided to appeal to the authorities to "suspend sentences."

CADETS AND BUTLERS' MEET POSTPONED

As was expected, the football teams representing the O. N. S. Cadets and the Butler A. A. will again meet on the Springfield park grounds to sever the existing tie, resulting from the big game last Sunday. It was confidently hoped by followers of both elevens that the deciding game would be played this coming Sunday, but owing to injuries sustained in the last meeting, it became necessary at a conference of the rival managers, to postpone the crucial battle to another week, and thereby, allow the indisposed members of the squads to recuperate.

Over 4000 spectators attended last Sunday's game and opinion was unanimous in voting it the best played, the most exciting, and the closest game ever played between local elevens. The great inter-sectional rivalry which has existed between these teams, especially during the last few years, has attracted city-wide recognition and the sportsmanlike behavior of the contestants was admirable for the game was played in every respect, despite the herculean attempts of the "friendly enemies" to out-general and deceive the men on the opposite side of the line.

One of the many features of the last historic battle, and one which apparently escaped notice, was the able manner in which the game was conducted by the officials in charge. Dr. Matt Mahoney, as referee, performed in his customary stellar manner and kept the players in line with consistent regularity, while the work of Umpire John Neeson and head linesman, Jimmie Liston, was all that could be desired. The crowd, too, appreciated the great nervous tension which the players were undergoing and kindly kept on the side lines allowed play to continue without interruption and at the same time giving everybody an equal opportunity to view the actions of the gladiators. With such conditions prevailing, it is small wonder that the Cadets and Butlers have revived football interest here in Lowell and made their activities on the gridiron the talk of the entire sports population of the city.

The captains of the respective teams, D. O'Connor, of the Cadets, and Irving Loucort, of the Butlers, are both incapacitated at present, the former with a torn ligament in his arm and the latter with a bad bone bruise. Injuries are of a minor nature, however, and the team leaders are recuperating rapidly. They attend the practice sessions of their charges nightly and uphold their acquaintance with the pigskin by calling signals, punting and running. As inferred above, the next meeting should be a reproduction in miniature of a regular stadium attraction. "Not cool!"

DISCIPLINE WON SERIES SAYS CHASE

Frank Chase, known as the "Peerless Leader" in the days when he was leading penitents with the Chicago Cubs, still retains a keen interest in baseball.

Chase came on from California to take in the world series. In his day as manager Chase was always a stickler for discipline. On any ball club that Chase ever managed his word was law.

At the finish of the world series Chase was asked to express an opinion of what was the determining factor in the series.

"Neither pitching nor brains decided the series between the Giants and the Yankees," was his reply. "Discipline was the thing that turned the trick."

"The Yankees and the Giants were evenly matched despite the fact that the American leaguers failed to win a game. That was very unusual, decidedly out of the ordinary. In three of the games it looked as if the Yankees were certain of winning, yet they failed to grab a single game."

"The Giants won because every player on that club had the utmost respect for McGraw's judgment. His decision in all things was final."

"With the Yankees, it seemed as if a number of players were doing things as they saw fit, not the manager. 'Yes sir, discipline, nothing else, was the determining factor in the outcome of the 1922 series.'"

SHAPING UP FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

The L.H.S. football practice will be held tomorrow morning instead of the afternoon as has been the custom. The high school has been in session all day and Coach Liston has taken advantage of the fact and will get in extra practice for Saturday's game with St. John's.

Both teams have had careful coaching and are expected to be so developed that they will be able to try for the varsity team next year. The game will be a hard fought one, but the team will find it difficult to get by the Freshies.

PRINCETON LINEUP FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26.—The lineup of the Princeton football eleven which will open the game with Chicago University on Saturday in the Wild City has practically been determined, according to Coach Bill Roper. Those tentatively selected are: Gorman, quarterback; Cleaves, fullback; Craig and Emory or Caldwell, halfbacks; Great and Baker, tackles; Dickenson (captain) and Shively, guards.

Both these teams have had careful coaching and are expected to be so developed that they will be able to try for the varsity team next year. The game will be a hard fought one, but the team will find it difficult to get by the Freshies.

FOOTBALL

The Stanley Wildcats will play the strong Americans on the Lakeside avenue grounds next Sunday at two o'clock. The following players are requested to report at the grounds at 12.30 o'clock on that day: Gookin, Golden, Gavin, McDonald, Lamson, Wozniak, Lynch, Frost, and others.

The Textile Juniors continued their winning streak by defeating "Stock's Pets" by the score of 18 to 6. The first touchdown was made by J. Manning of the Pets. The next touchdown was made by McCready of the Juniors, who was the star of the game. McCready ploughed through the whole opposing team twice for touchdowns. The third and last touchdown was made by J. O'Connor, our star quarterback, who made a wonderful catch of C. Robb's forward pass. The players who participated in the battle for the Juniors were as follows: J. Dunne, T. Jilopoulos, A. Leonard, J. Burke, G. H. Clark, L. McKee, E. Dunne, R. Collins, D. Rogers, D. O'Connor, P. Valandry, J. McCready, and C. Robb.

The Textile Juniors are a team with an average weight of 225 pounds. The players who participated in the battle for the Juniors were as follows: J. Dunne, T. Jilopoulos, A. Leonard, J. Burke, G. H. Clark, L. McKee, E. Dunne, R. Collins, D. Rogers, D. O'Connor, P. Valandry, J. McCready, and C. Robb.

The Americans accept the challenge from the Pelham Buckeyes and will play them any time, preferably next Sunday. Call 194-R, or if it is more convenient for the Buckeyes Manager Wilson will call at the Buckeyes club or manager's house and make arrangements for games, providing the Buckeyes' manager puts his address in the paper.

The A's would also like to hear from Pelham Second, National Units and Ramblers, or any other teams between 120-125 pounds in the city. Answer through this paper.

We have no game for Sunday.

The Americans started out this year to win the championship of Lowell and surrounding towns at 120-125 pounds. The A's have not been defeated this year, and what's more no team has scored on them although some of the games were very close. The Americans are without a game Sunday and would like to hear from the Pelham Second, National Units and Ramblers, or any other teams between 120-125 pounds in the city. Answer through this paper.

All A's players will please report for practice Friday evening without fail.

The A's also would like very much to meet the Buckeyes from Pelham the sooner the better.

BROKE HIS NOSE Football Star Injured While Wrestling With Nightmare

CLINTON, Miss., Oct. 26.—C. S. Wilson, senior at Mississippi college and member of the football team, while wrestling with a nightmare last night, broke his nose when he struck a chair.

INTER-CITY BOXING TOURNEY NOV. 30

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—An inter-city boxing tourney between amateur boxing talent from Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia and New York will be held in Madison Square Garden Nov. 30, according to plans of the Metropolitan Association of the A.A.U. Titles will be contested for in five classes, with one representative of each city entered in each class.

Joe Ray, national A.A.U. title champion, who made a successful ring debut in Chicago recently, has been in the city to participate in a special match in connection with the tourney.

BILL TILDEN UNDERGOES OPERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—William T. Tilden, 2nd, national tennis champion, is in a local hospital today awaiting the outcome of an operation to remove a tumor from his right hand.

As a matter of fact the Washington club really had no regular third baseman last season.

BELVIDERE A. C. WILL MEET THE INDIANS

The local football arena will witness another championship aspirant for title honors next Sunday when the re-organized Belvidere A.C. opposes the famous Indians on the old Fair grounds in what promises to be a repetition of the Spaulding park classic of the previous week.

Both teams strenuously dispute the claims of the cadets and the Butlers to the championship of the city and will make every possible effort to substantiate their statements in Sunday's game. Last year the Belvidere crew defeated the Butlers for the 1921 championship and feel equally confident of victory in the coming game.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN POLO CIRCUIT

Failure to get a suitable hall in Lawrence has caused another change in the National Roller Polo league circuit. Manager Tyler, who had assurances that he would be able to get the down river armory, found out yesterday that it couldn't be done, and hence he has been authorized by the league to locate in Salem. Lawrence fans are keenly disappointed at the turn in affairs, as they were preparing to welcome the game with great enthusiasm.

A meeting of the

to Be Renewed

The campaign for funds for the purpose of erecting a modern athletic field and stadium at Spaulding park for the use of the high school, will be revived next Monday noon at a luncheon to be served in the high school cafeteria, for which more than 300 invitations have been sent out. At this gathering of friends of the school it is hoped the drive will take into itself new impetus and life and will develop rapidly along successful lines.

To handle the financial end of the drive, including the supervision of expending money raised, the following board of trustees has been named: Henry H. Harris, Harry G. Pollard, Henry L. Bourke, Frederick C. Church, Jr., Henry C. Brooks, Edward B. Carney, and Arthur L. Eno.

This board has been appointed by the general campaign committee, of which Bennett Silverblatt is chairman. It will be the aim of the general committee, aided by sub-committees, to raise the money and it will be left to the trustees to properly supervise its expenditure.

Monday noon's luncheon will be an informal and rather brief affair. Mr. Harris, as headmaster of the school and president of the Athletic Association, will preside and he will present only one speaker, who will outline the campaign and explain the athletic field program.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Johnny Hines opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon in his first feature production, "Sure Fire Flint," one of the most amusing comedies ever turned out. The second feature for the week-end is "Heart's Haven," starring Claire Adams. It's a great bill.

"PRISONER OF ZENDA"
The Merrimack Square theatre management announces the engagement of "The Prisoner of Zendra," the world famous classic, for presentation in screen form for four days beginning next Sunday. Written 20 years ago, the famous story by Anthony Hope was being played on the legitimate stage by James K. Hackett, with tremendous success. Now it is in motion picture form with a splendid cast, including Alice Terry and Lewis Stone.

There is enough romance, drama, adventure and love interest in "The Prisoner of Zendra" to provide several feature productions, but Rex Ingram, the producer who made "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," has taken them into the stirring, masterful production. There will be no change in the usual admission scale. The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon.

R. F. KATHIN THEATRE
The bill at the R. F. Kathin theatre, this present week, holds several acts of more than ordinary worth. "The Beautiful Liar," in which Katherine MacDonald, a young actress of 20 years ago, is being presented in a highly impressive manner, while Kenney and Hollis, a pair of old favorites, give a line of comedy not of a second rate nature. The evening program is "The Case of Becky," also Reginald Denny in "Go Get Gates," and William Desmond in "The Perils of the Yukon."

RIALTO THEATRE
In her latest picture, "The Beautiful Liar," Katherine MacDonald has risen to new screen honors. The picture opened a two-day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon and created a favorable impression on every side. In the same program is Claire Binney in "The Case of Becky," also Reginald Denny in "Go Get Gates," and William Desmond in "The Perils of the Yukon."

WILL REVIVE CAMPAIGN

to Be Renewed

The campaign for funds for the purpose of erecting a modern athletic field and stadium at Spaulding park for the use of the high school, will be revived next Monday noon at a luncheon to be served in the high school cafeteria, for which more than 300 invitations have been sent out. At this gathering of friends of the school it is hoped the drive will take into itself new impetus and life and will develop rapidly along successful lines.

To handle the financial end of the drive, including the supervision of expending money raised, the following board of trustees has been named: Henry H. Harris, Harry G. Pollard, Henry L. Bourke, Frederick C. Church, Jr., Henry C. Brooks, Edward B. Carney, and Arthur L. Eno.

This board has been appointed by the general campaign committee, of which Bennett Silverblatt is chairman. It will be the aim of the general committee, aided by sub-committees, to raise the money and it will be left to the trustees to properly supervise its expenditure.

Monday noon's luncheon will be an informal and rather brief affair. Mr. Harris, as headmaster of the school and president of the Athletic Association, will preside and he will present only one speaker, who will outline the campaign and explain the athletic field program.

Jack Daw's Adventures (No. 93)

"What are you digging for?" one of the men in the crowd asked Jack. But the little adventurer went right on with his work and didn't answer. Then the bystanders started to whisper among themselves. This made Jack more nervous than ever.

Shortly the watchers started to leave. Jack tried to appear unconcerned and kept throwing dirt out of the hole he was digging in. As one of the men walked away he turned to a boy and said, "All right, you stay here and watch him."

This made Jack mad, so when the man was gone, he jumped out of the hole and rushed up to the boy. "What are you waiting for?" demanded Jack. "And what are you standing here staring at me for?" The boy was scared and refused to answer. Continued.

It Mary Carr, called "the greatest little mother in the world," gives another portrayal of motherhood. Her work alone is well worth the price of admission. Assisting her is a strong cast that includes one of her daughters, May Beth Carr.

"Broad Daylight" with Lois Wilson, Jack Munnell and others of screen note is the second feature on this excellent bill.

DISCUSSED NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

A representative of the Gamewell Fire Alarm System was in Lowell yesterday and sat in conference with the mayor and Chief Edward E. Saunders. The probability of the installation of a new system in the city next year was discussed at length and the company's spokesman said the work would require approximately 275 working days. The company would be ready to come into Lowell next spring if the city government saw fit to pass a loan order authorizing the work.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, constipation, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitutes for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c—Adv.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher Honestly advertised, Honestly placed before the public and from which he Honestly expects to receive his reward.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

NIGHT PROWLER FOUND IN LOCAL STORE

What is believed to have been an attempt to burglarize the J. L. Chaffoux store, by a prowler, playing a lone hand, was last night frustrated by the watchman, James Gorman, who discovered an intruder on the third floor of the building. The watchman gave chase, but the person made good his escape and, although a squad of police searched every nook and corner of the building, no trace of the supposed burglar was found.

As Mr. Gorman was making his rounds at 10.30 o'clock he came across a man in the darkness. He challenged the slinking figure, which instead of answering dashed from the third floor to the second. Watchman Gorman followed close on the heels of the intruder but was unable to catch up to the fast running man. When the second floor was reached Mr. Gorman heard footsteps retreating to the third floor. He immediately notified the police and it is thought that during this period the alleged thief reached the roof through the skylight and climbed down to an alley by means of a fire escape.

A squad of police under Lieut. Ryan arrived on the scene and completely surrounded the building. The squad was augmented later by a number of patrolmen waiting to take over the late night shift. A thorough search of the building was made but it failed to reveal Mr. Gorman's visitor.

Mr. Gorman describes the man as about 24 years of age, and that he wore a gray cap, a red sweater and brown trousers.

ANNUAL HALLOWEEN PARTY AND DANCE

The members of the C.Y.M.L. will hold their annual Halloween party and dance, Friday night, Oct. 27th, in Associate hall, Floor Director John J. Quinn, with the assistance of an able committee, has prepared a night of enjoyment for all who attend. Halloween favors will be distributed during the evening and novelty dances including a balloon dance and candy dance will be on the program. Boxes of candy will be given to the lucky ones in the novelty dances. The officers for the dance are: Harold B. Sullivan, general manager; John W. McGuinness, assistant general manager; John J. Quinn, floor director, and Leo Connelly, assistant floor director.

GAVE DELIGHTFUL HALLOWEEN PARTY

A delightful Halloween party was given last night by the Women's Industrial club of the Massachusetts mills in the club's headquarters. The hall was decorated in black and yellow and looked very attractive. A feature of the evening's fun was an entertainment of Scotch dances by the Misses Margaret Clark and Isabel Morris together with happy selections by Harry Thompson.

The following officers were in charge: President, Miss Nora Ryan; Vice President, Mrs. Amelia Ellis; Secretary, Miss Mary Ellis; Treasurer, Miss Helen Lynch; Director, Mrs. Ann Allen.

CHURCH HOLDS TWO RECEPTIONS

Parishioners of the Pawtucket Congregational church last evening engaged an informal reception and farewell to Rev. Arthur G. Lyon, the pastor, who is to leave Lowell for a seven months rest from clerical duties. Rev. Stanley High, who is to take Mr. Lyon's place temporarily, was welcomed last evening. The newcomers have been doing special work at Boston University for some time and recently returned from Europe.

An orchestra of Lowell Textile school musicians played during the evening, and Miss Clara Bartlett directed at the piano. Among the guests were members of the local Trades and Labor council and the Central Textile council, in whose interests Mr. Lyon has always worked. The general committee Stanley High, who is to take Mr. Lyon's place temporarily, was welcomed last evening. The newcomers have been doing special work at Boston University for some time and recently returned from Europe.

Buy Carnegie Mansion For Novitiate

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 26.—Shadowbrook, the mansion in Stockbridge, has been bought by the Society of Jesus which will use it as a Jesuit novitiate. The purchase was made from the Andrew Carnegie estate. Mr. Carnegie occupied the property as a summer estate for a few years up to his death three years ago. Shadowbrook was constructed 20 years ago by Anson Phelps Stokes and is one of the finest residences in New England. The sale is believed to involve about $400,000. The Jesuits will have about 60 students at the novitiate which will be opened there as soon as possible.

SQUARE FACED KID HELD UNUSUAL DISPOSITION IN LIQUOR CASE

Charged With Participating in Operations of Alleged "Bunco" Gang

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—At the end of a chase which wound through England and France and back to America, M. McGeedigan, alias Square Faced Kid, has been arrested in New York city and is being held there without bond for Atlanta authorities on charges of having participated in the operations of the alleged "Bunco" gang. "Bunco" is a name which was used in the past by a group of men who were charged with having operated a "bunco" game in 1920, it was announced today by Solicitor General John A. Bynkin of Fulton superior court.

McGeedigan, who is said to have operated here under the name of John Gray, is wanted for the arrest of a confederate of R. W. Hill, 50-year-old confederate veteran of Habsburgian county, of $3500.

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition when she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can do my housework without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, headache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble. Give it a fair trial. It surely helped Mrs. Hatfield, just as it has many, many other women.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Have to Go

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits Are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Will Guarantee It in Every Instance.

"Young man," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidney, so whatever you do not neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous Prescription No. 177 (known for years as Marshmallow) is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating, irritability, or of flesh, or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be steadily upon you.

Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription, now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and without warning. If you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day for Fred Howard, 197 Central Street, A. W. MOVE TO REOPEN STILLMAN CASE

Jas. A. Stillman, Wealthy Banker, Has Started a New Drive

Counsel for Mrs. Stillman Served With Order To Fight Move

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—James A. Stillman, wealthy banker, it was learned today, has started a new drive to reopen in supreme court, his unsuccessful fight to divorce Mrs. Anne U. Stillman and have her son Guy declared the offspring of Frederick K. Beauvais, Indian guide.

John P. Brennan, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, said today he had been served with an order directing Mrs. Stillman to show cause before Supreme Court Justice Morchauer at Poughkeepsie on Saturday, when the whole matter, which resulted in the confirming of the report of Referee Daniel J. Gleason in favor of Mrs. Stillman and Guy, should not be reviewed.

Mr. Brennan characterized the step as "a move to reopen the whole divorce proceedings," but declared he did not believe it would succeed. Justice Morchauer's final order confirming the report had been signed and was filed yesterday with the supreme court clerk of Putnam county at Carmel.

"I believe the only remedy Mr. Stillman has now is an appeal to the appellate division," Mr. Brennan said, "but we will be at Poughkeepsie Saturday to fight the new move."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 26.—More than 1200 delegates to the state Christian endeavor convention, which formally opened here today, had registered early today and it is expected that the number will reach the expected total of 2000. County leaders presented reports at a luncheon today and that of Field Secretary Russell J. Blair showed a gain of between 150 and 200 societies in the state in the last year. The convention will continue through Sunday, when Gov. Cox is expected to be one of the speakers at a mass meeting.

DUFFY BROTHERS

HINT PACT IN DEATHS OF CARDINAL. B. C. SENIORS

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 26.—A flower plucked from the grave of a boy friend, inconsolable grief at his death, and a note in which she said she was ill, were pointed to here today as possibly having a bearing on the sudden death of Gertrude Nelson, 14 years of age. Her death Tuesday was from apoplexy. Her friend, Myrl McGuire, died a week ago from a similar cause.

Myrl and Gertrude were classmates in high school. Their friendship had extended over several months. Next week they were to have attended together the annual sophomore Halloween party.

Parents of both students today said they doubted the existence of a pact and believed the deaths were accidental, notwithstanding the similarity of circumstances involved.

Coroner Carl Gray, however, continued his investigation and stated he might call an inquest.

BIDS RECEIVED FOR CITY COAL

The city today received bids to furnish 1000 tons of soft coal to the water department and 500 tons for the Chestnut Street hospital. The water works fuel is equally divided between the Centralville and Boulevard stations. The bids follow:

Water Works: Horne Coal Co., $9.73; Cawley Coal Co., $9.91; D. P. Sullivan, $10.63; E. A. Wilson, Centralville, $5.53; Reylevard, $9.75.

Chestnut Street hospital—Sullivan, $10.25; Wilson, $9.83; Thorpe, $10.85; Cawley, $9.81; Horne, $9.72.

The contracts have not yet been awarded, although the Horne bid was low on both lots.

ATTENDS HEALTH MEETING TODAY

Dr. Francis A. Finnegan, director of school hygiene, is in Worcester today attending a quarterly meeting of the Massachusetts Association of Boards of Health. Addresses will be given by Congressman Samuel E. Winslow and Dr. R. S. Copeland, health commissioner for New York.

Only business in the city prevented Francis J. O'Hara, local agent, from attending the meeting.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 26.—"Dutch" Ruff, pitcher for the Brooklyn club of the National league, who is visiting here, is probably the first hold-out of the 1923 season. Ruff had declined to accept a salary of $5000 and a bonus of $1000 which Chas. Eubets, owner of the club, offered Ruff. "If he proves he is worth it."

"That is why the Catholic colleges are more necessary than ever, and are expected to take your place in this leadership in your day."

"In the meantime throw off the shackles that may be binding you to the delusions of life. Do not blame God 20 years from now if you find that your life means nothing to yourself or to anybody else."

"If you are used to something that is merely a passing show, if you are thinking only of making for yourself a pleasant and gay life, let me assure you now with perfect security that you will fall miserably."

"Find the difficult path to tread, because there you will find sincerity and security. Men don't wander all their lives on sand merely because it is pleasant to look at and to handle."

"You cannot build on sand. You need solid ground under your feet, and so with your lives choose a difficult thing to do. If difficult it will bring out the best in you, because you will have to use all your energies, and that is the very best preparation in life, the bringing out of the best in you."

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that squalors. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and gripping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enas S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headache, salivary complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle, can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose.

British Admiralty Orders Two Battleships

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The admiralty, it was stated today on high authority, has issued tenders for the construction of two 35,000 ton battleships. This is in accordance with the Washington agreement. There has been much discussion, however, as to whether Great Britain would build these ships.

Billy Shevlin Harvard Boxing Instructor

Brother of Ex-King Constantine Arrested

ATHENS, Oct. 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The newspapers announce that Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine, was arrested yesterday at Corfu on the charge that he contributed to the disaster suffered by the Greek army in Asia Minor. He will be brought to Athens on a destroyer and interned in the palace.

U. S. Invited to Conference

As possible delegates for France at the conference, MM. Delouvenil, Hancaux, Franklin-Bouillon, Violant, Leguay and Bonnard, the last named former ambassador to Turkey, have been mentioned. The definite choice, however, remains to be made.

Cabinet to Take Up Invitation WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (By the Associated Press).—Pending receipt in Washington of the official invitation for American participation in the Lausanne peace conference, official comment as to the American attitude is withheld. There is every reason to believe, however, that the trend of opinion in American government circles does not favor American intervention in the conference beyond the possible appointment of an unofficial observer qualified to give the conference the American viewpoint on all questions in which the United States has a direct interest.

Should the allied invitation reach Washington in time, unquestionably it will be considered by the cabinet at tomorrow's session. That discussion must of necessity be predicated upon the fact that the Lausanne meeting is a peace conference at which belligerent nations propose to arrive at a treaty of peace as among themselves. The United States is not and has not been a belligerent in the Near Eastern troubles. Friendly relations between the United States and Turkey have never been interrupted.
